RECOMMEND IMPROVEMENTS FOR LIMA STATE HOSPITAL

ESSENTIAL NEEDS ARE DISCUSSED

Welfare Director John E. Harper Requesting Aid

TOTAL OF $11,800 ASKED

Will be Used to Place Institution in Good Condition

An appropriation of $11,800 for use in making needed improvements at the Lima State Hospital for Criminal Insane is being sought from the State Board of Control by Welfare Director John E. Harper, according to information received Friday by Dr. Charles Clark, superintendent.

In event the control board grants the request, the Lima hospital will have the benefit of improvements sought by Dr.
Clark for some time.

The improvement proposals embrace $1,000 for additional grill work in various parts of the institution, to reduce the hazard of patients escaping.

For the remodeling of four houses occupied by attendants, and three barns, an appropriation of $2,000 is sought.

A new boiler feed pump is necessary, the welfare director states.
For this improvement $800 is asked.

X-RAY IS NEEDED

For the purpose of providing the institution with X-ray equipment, and to relieve the necessity of taking surgery cases to the Lima hospitals, $2,500 is asked.

For better fire protection, replacing old hose and fire extinguishers, the sum of $1,000 is requested.

One thousand dollars is sought for the dredging of a reservoir, to increase the water supply. Water is backed up by a dam in the river and mud and other accumulation has gradually filled in, reducing the water storage capacity.

Boilers in use at the institution for ten years past must be reset, it is stated, within a year. The sum of $3,500 is needed for this work.

Welfare Director Harper seeks appropriations for these improvements from a total of appropriation of $13,000 provided by the last legislature for additions and betterments at all state institutions.

PROBE OF GIRL'S DEATH CONTINUES

Child Only Witness to Tragedy at Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES — (Associated Press) — An autopsy performed yesterday on the body of Ethel Williams, cabaret dancer found dead in her home here, failed to answer the question to the satisfaction of the police whether she was murdered or had died from a hemorrhage resulting from self-inflicted injuries.

The girl's death was due to concussion of the brain and lacerations on the head inflicted by blows from a blunt instrument, according to the autopsy report.

An effort to question Mrs. Williams' two year old son Bobbie, produced no results. Bobbie was alone with the body for nearly ten hours.
He is the only witness located thus far, but his vocabulary is limited to five or six words.

An inquest has been set for today.

BERLIN'S PEACE OFFER DECLINED

Unconditional Surrender is Demanded by Paris

BERLIN — (United Press) — Premier Poincare of France is the stumbling block which prevents acceptance of the latest German proposals for evacuation of the Ruhr, as made thru the Belgian minister Wednesday, according to the belief of persons who have kept the United Press informed of the negotiations.

These sources said Chancellor Stresemann first attempted to get the French ambassador to transmit the proposals, but he refused when he learned that Germany attached conditions, declaring only unconditional surrender would suffice.

Stresemann then approached the Belgian minister who agreed to transmit the offer, which the German reactionary groups claim amounts to practically complete capitulation.

United Press informants claimed, however, that despite the action of the French ambassador the terms were received by Poincare from Belgium and that the French premier is studying them.

ROBBERY OF BONDS SEEN IN ATTEMPT

Auditor Churchill Discovers Slit
in State Missive

BELIEVED WORK OF XPERT

Investigation Shows Contents
Had Not Been Disturbed

Did someone, not connected with the city, slit open a registered letter addressed to the city auditor and sent from the state treasurer in the hope of finding cash?

That question agitated City
Auditor C. H. Churchill Friday morning as a result of finding a registered letter from the state treasurer had been carefully slit on one end but not entirely opened on that end. The contents of the letter, as per the state treasurer's inventory were undisturbed.

The letter was supposed to contain one city improvement bond for $2,000 and 32 of the city's series B coupons for improvements, each coupon worth $50. They were sent thru the state treasurer by the state industrial department for redemption in October.

NOTHING MISSING

Noticing that the letter was tightly sealed with the state treasurer's seal and bearing postal registry Number, 86,385, and that one end was slightly slit as the money had been extracted, the city auditor asked a Lima News reporter to witness the opening of the letter. Auditor Churchill opened the letter and found the bond and all the coupons.

Inquiry around city hall proved that no one had slit the end of the envelope so he concluded that possibly someone might have thought there was money in the package and so cut open the end. The letter was in a large envelope, about
No. 10 size and the end was slit across about two inches, just enough for a person to put in fingers and pull out bills.

In cutting the envelope, who ever did it, let the instrument slip a bit and cut the front of the envelope also. Considerable thrill was furnished when the first counting of the coupons indicated that one was missing. A recount showed that the 32 coupons were all there, however.

CLIVELAND — Cleveland's 1923 Palace of Progress style revue opened today and will continue thru Saturday of next week. More than $3,000,000 worth of exhibits are on display in the Public Hall.

A feature of the opening was the pressing of a button by President Calvin Coolidge, which opened the exhibition. It is said to be the first time that Mr. Coolidge as president has formally opened an exposition.

Seventy-five models will wear styles valued at more than $100,- 000.

HAZING IS BLAMED FOR DEATH

Suicide of Indiana Youth is Investigated

RUSHVILLE, Ind. — (Associated Press) — County authorities and school officials of New Salem, near here today were conducting investigations into the hazing of Vernon A.
Walke, 16 year old high school student of that place who committed suicide as the result, his parents assert, of brooding over the treatment he received.

The lad would not discuss the hazing which occurred Tuesday night according to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walke, who said his clothes were torn and his cap missing. He brooded all day Wednesday over the affair, his parents said, and that night his body was found in a barn at his home with a bullet wound in the heart. A gun lay close by.

The lad was a newcomer in the community and was described as being timid.

Officials of the school said they were unaware that hazing of a serious nature had taken place and announced they will assist the authorities in a complete investigation of the case.

CITY JAIL PAINTED
Lima jail, hoosgow or municipals hotel as it is commonly called, has a new winter coat of black paint, which is serviceable but does not in the least add to its attractiveness. A general clean up during the past two days has placed the jail in first class condition. Cells were washed out and bed clothing aired.
Iron railings and bars were painted a sombre black, giving the place a more dismal appearance.

BATTLE BREWING IN DIVORCE CASE

Indictments and Suits Threatened In Sensational Stokes Proceedings—Conspiracy and Usurpation of Powers
May be Charged as Result of Probe

CHICAGO—(Associated Press)—Indictments are threatened on the one hand and a suit for usurpation of powers on the other out of an official investigation of allegations by Mrs. W.
E. D. Stokes, that her husband, the wealthy New York hotel owner has spent thousands of dollars here in an attempt to obtain affidavits stating that she formerly was an inmate of a notorious Chicago resort.

Stokes alleged numerous indications in his suit for divorce. Mrs.
Stokes' counter suit still is pending in the New York court.

Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, appointed Charles S. Wharton, assistant state's attorney, to investigate the charges by Mrs. Stokes.
Wharton said indictment charging conspiracy may result, while Frank T. Jordan, attorney for Stokes, declared that suit will be started against the prosecutor for usurpation of powers.

SUPPORT MRS. STOKES

Testimony of witnesses so far questioned, the prosecutor said, have supported Mrs. Stokes' charges that her husband has spent thousands of dollars here seeking the affidavits. Witnesses told him, the prosecutor said, that Stokes had shown them a photograph, told them it was of Mrs. Stokes, and asked them to identify her as "Helen Norwood," an alleged inmate of the resort which ended its existence in 1911.

A statement that Stokes had offered him money for his loss of time and any expenses incurred if he identified photographs of Mrs.
Stokes as those of a resort inmate he had treated was made to the prosecutor by Dr. Maurice Rosenberg, who said Stokes had frequently visited him and had taken him to former attendants of the resort all of whom, including Dr. Rosenberg, failed to identify the photograph.

ARREST ORDERED

The prosecutor ordered Mrs.
Willie Phillips, negro hair dresser, alleged to have made an affidavit that she had dressed Mrs. Stokes' hair under compromising circumstances, held under technical arrest as a witness against others who may be involved. She denied signing an affidavit.

Louise Friesch and Mrs. Lucille Harrison, negro maids, testified to visits from Stokes, who obtained from them names and addresses of former inmates of the resort and urged them to identify his wife as a member of the group.

A raid on a private detective agency said to have been employed by Stokes was made last night by order of the state's attorney, who said nearly a hundred letters over the signature of Stokes had been obtained and would be used in the investigation.

WOMAN IS KILLED

Ohioan is Victim of Automobile
Crash at Denver

DENVER, Colo. — (Associated Press)—Mrs. S. J. George, 58, of Alliance, Ohio, died today from injuries received yesterday when an automobile in which she was sitting was driven into an open elevator shaft by an employee of a garage.
The car dropped to the basement.

Her husband and son were standing in the garage waiting for the attendant to find parking space. The attendant escaped with slight injuries.

COUNTY AND CITY FIGHT OVER WORK

Bingham Sends Fourth Letter Asking for Conference

ASSERTS AID WAS PROMISED

Commissioners Say Participation
Would be Illegal

Another demand has been made on the county commissioners, by City Manager C. A.
Bingham, for a conference on the Main-st paving proposition, according to a letter which the commissioners received from Bingham Friday.

Commissioners said there is no use holding a conference because they cannot have anything to do with the paving proposition.

Bingham in his letter says he has written three times before asking for a conference and he sincerely trusts that "we may this time have the courtesy of an answer to this proposition." Commissioners indicated that there was nothing to answer. Bingham wrote the commissioners, in part as follows:

FOURTH LETTER

"We regret that we are now forced to write a fourth letter asking for such conference but it is really most important that we now work out the preliminaries in regard to the Main-st paving in order that we may be in position to advertise for bids the first part of October.

"The reason we started to ask for this conference in the early spring was so that we might have all these preliminaries thoroughly worked out before advertising for bids.

"We sincerely trust that we may this time have the courtesy of an answer on this proposition."

LEGISLATION READY

City commissioners not long ago passed a resolution of necessity for improving Main-st from the Pennsylvania railroad tracks south to the river, covering in this resolution several which had been previously passed for improvement of certain sections of the street. He said Friday that the city wants to get the work started just as soon as the street railway company gets its work out of the way and the sewer work is finished.

Bingham feels that the matter ought to be settled so that the work can be advertised and the contract let in time to get the street paved before the bad weather starts, he said.

"Last January the commissioners promised us on their word of honor that they would bear part of the Main-st improvement expense," said Bingham Friday morning. "Now they propose to go back on their pledge. Oh, well, that is no more than we really expected."

COUNTY VIEW

County commissioners will not appropriate funds to pay for any part of the new Main-st paving, they declared Friday following the receipt of a letter from City Manager C. A. Bingham, requesting a conference on the matter.

Bingham's communication was received and filed at the court house Friday. It asked that the commissioners set a date for meeting with city commissioners and officials to discuss paving Main-st.

An answer will be sent to Manager Bingham, Commissioner A. J.
Gray said, reiterating the county's position in the matter. The letter has not yet been sent, it was learned.

WILL NOT AID

"We will not do any paving in Main-st," declared Gray, "because on investigation we find that it is impractical."

As commissioners view the matter, Gray said, only a small part of the street to be paved can be

3 CHIROPRACTORS ARE ARRESTED

Plead Not Guilty to Charges and Will Face Trial

OPENING OF THIRD ATTACK

Cleanup Also Seen in Wapakoneta Tuesday

Three members of the chiropractic profession were arrested Thursday in the third raid made by investigators for the Ohio Medical board in Allen-co.

Affidavits charging the trio with practicing medicine without a license, were sworn to before Justice of Peace W. H. Guyton. The practitioners arrested are Ezekiel Hadsell, Opera house block; Paul and Theresa Lerner, 327 W. High-st. Paul Lerner also maintains offices in the Opera house block.

The trio were arraigned and pleaded not guilty and were released without bond to appear for trial on October 5. Complaint against the practitioners were sworn to by Frank Dorsey, Columbus, medicodetective, who operated in Lima on two previous raids.

Warning to be on guard circulated among members of the chiropractic and naprapathic professions some days ago, it is believed, caused the arrests to be delayed.

According to original plans, divulged a week ago, arrests were to have been made September 15. Secret investigators who had visited the city left shortly before that date.

Arrest of the trio is the latest move in the medical war waged to drive unlicensed healers from practice in Ohio. Owing to the discovery of plans for renewing the fight here, the drive failed to effect an entire cleanup, a number of practitioners slipping thru the net.

Hadsell has served one jail term for failure to pay a $25 fine. He may return to jail, if found guilty, it was asserted Friday.

Mrs. Lerner has been arrested for unlicensed practice three times. Two cases are already on appeal in common pleas court. She will likely appeal the present case if convicted. Paul Lerner, who has been arrested twice, will also appeal, it is believed.

Dorsey also caused the arrest of Harry B. Dingler and J. A. Ford, practitioners, at Wapakoneta, on Tuesday. The accused men will be tried before Justice of Peace R. G. Herrman, on October 3.

PLEAD NOT GUILTY

Dollings Co. Officials Answer to Embezzlement Charge

COLUMBUS—(Associated Press)—William G. Bonham, president, and Dwight Harrison, vice president of the R. L. Dollings Co., defendant security dealers, each pleaded not guilty to six counts under four indictments before Judge Duncan today. The two were indicted on various charges of obtaining money under false pretenses and embezzlement.

They entered pleas despite the fact that Attorneys Conn Matern and Bob Nevins of Dayton, whom they said would represent them in the Franklin-co. criminal courts, were not due here until this afternoon.

It was pointed out here today that trial dates set for the two men probably will not be adhered to. They are slated to stand trial at Eaton on October 8, on similar indictments returned there and their trial date here has been fixed for October 15.

It was said that the statutes under which the men will be tried have been used often enough to establish against them the probability will delay the start of the trials.

LINAMENT KING LEAVES MONEY TO ZANESFIELD

Public institutions at Zanesville, near Bellefontaine, will benefit under the will of the late Earl S. Sloan, linament king, which has just been probated in Boston.

Public schools will receive the revenue from the sale of the Sloan home in Boston, the Presbyterian church will get $6,000 and the Dr. Sloan library will get $10,000 now and $15,000 more on the death of Mrs. Sloan.

Zanesville was the former home of Sloan, who was a horse trader. His fortune amounted to approximately $1,000,000.

FRENCH POLICE PROHIBIT "BIRTH OF A NATION" FILM

PARIS—Looking out for a reason which would justify the stopping of the film, "The Birth of a Nation," after it had been shown in a theatre on the boulevards three times, the Prefect of Police was forced to dig up an old law of the French Revolution days. The law which was passed on August 6, 1790, gives the police the right to prohibit any theatrical performance which is liable to cause a disturbance of the peace.

The police prohibition was the result of a special request on the part of the Minister of the Interior, following the incidents in which several American tourists and the sons of the negro ex-king of Dahomey were mixed up.

TOWNSHIP CLUBS HOLD EXHIBIT

Monroe-tp Girls' Clothing Club Meets at Rockport

Township achievement and club exhibits were held at Lafayette, Friday. Monroe-tp Girls' Clothing club held an exhibit at Rockport Friday afternoon and a program by members of the Farm Women's club and the Girls' club was planned for Friday night.

Other township exhibits that will take the place of the county fair will be held in Spencer-tp Saturday. Surrounding townships have joined with Jackson and Spencer-tps to make achievement days a success.

Varied programs have been arranged for both exhibitions. Perry-tp Boys' Pig club exhibited their stock at Lafayette while the Harrod Clothing club took their work to the Auglaize-tp picnic.

Miss Hulda Horst, and Mrs. Roxie Ann Kenestrick were the two state judges of the girls' club work. The majority of the clothing exhibits are judged Friday. Thirty girls finished work this year out of 52 that started.

W. H. Palmer, extension specialist, will judge the Boys' Pig club exhibits. Thirteen finished the work this year. Two of these have finished the sow and litter work which is the second year course. One member of the Pig club is a girl, Margaret Powell of Sugar-tp. She is the only girl entered in this contest but is reported to have been successful in the work this year.

Boys who pass the first year's work successfully may enter the sow and litter work which consists of raising a litter of pigs.

Soybean fields inspected Thursday by J. G. Cutler of the Ohio Seed Improvement association, passed first inspection. About 45 acres of the beans were inspected.

Farmers who own beans that have passed the first inspection must send in a sample of the threshed bean to the association. If this sample passed the second test, the beans will be certified and can be sold as certified seed.

Telegram from Scott O'Day, range purchasing agent of feeder cattle, for Ohio Farm Bureau states that heffer calves, 500 pounds, dehorned, are costing five and three-quarter cents per pound and yearling steers, 60 to 700 pounds weight, are costing six cents. About 2,000 feeder cattle will be shipped into Allen-co this year.

MERCHANT SHIP PLAN DECLARED UNLAWFUL

WASHINGTON—The administration today again faced the task of formulating a policy for disposal of the government's merchant fleet as a substitute for that contemplated in the Lasker-Parley plan which Attorney General Daugherty has declared to be not legal.

In an opinion submitted to President Coolidge yesterday, the attorney general held that the Lasker-Parley plan for transferring the fleet to corporations organized under state laws would be unlawful under provisions of the shipping act limiting disposition of the fleet to cash or credit sales.

RUGERRI CASE IN JURY'S HANDS

Four Verdicts Possible Under Judge's Instructions

The case of Joe Rugerri, 35, Italian on trial in common pleas court on charges of a statutory character, went to the jury at noon Friday, after a two days hearing.

Judge Fred C. Becker, who presided during the trial of the action, gave the jury five forms of verdicts. Lucy Bonanno, 14, school girl accused of Rugerri was in court and heard the charge.

The jury, if they find Rugerri guilty, will have the choice of convicting him on either of the four which includes criminal assault, attempted criminal assault, assault and battery or attempted assault.

Rugerri's fate rests in the hands of five women, all of whom are matrons, and seven men. A majority of the jurors are parents of children.

The defendant, testifying Friday, told the jury that he did not harm Lucy. He declared that he and Bonanno had had a falling out over money matters and that he had given the father all of his wages.

DEATH RATE HERE IS LOWER

Lima and Allen-co Figures Under State Average

BIRTH RATE INCREASED

County Stands High in Fight Against Infant Deaths

Death rate in both Lima and Allen-co was lower than the state average for August, state department of health records show. Both the city and county also showed a decrease over the month of July.

Birth rate in Lima made a substantial increase over the July report and was considerably higher than the state average. County birth rate dropped in comparison with the state average and July report.

There were 5,359 deaths in the state in August compared with 5,117 in July. Of this number, 3,445 were from urban districts and 1,814 from rural districts. This was an increase over the July number in both rural and urban sections.

Lima decreased the death rate from .85 in July to .81 in August. The county decrease was larger, being 1.03 in July and only .76 last month.

Birth rate in Lima increased to 2.15 in August compared with 2.06 in July. There were 10,718 births in the state in July with an average rate of 1.78, compared with 11,540 in August and a rate of 1.92. Birth rate for cities, excluding the county districts, was 1.92 in July and 2.02 in August.

County birth rate dropped from 1.79 in July to 1.32 in August. Average rural rate for August was 1.75 compared with 1.55 in July.

Allen-co stands high in the campaign against infant deaths. Only three counties of the 88 in Ohio—Allen, Logan and Williams-co.—have had no infant deaths for the last two months.

Only a small percentage of the counties have had no infant deaths in one month, there being 18 counties without infant deaths in July and only 9 in August.

There were 806 infant deaths in the state during August, which was a considerable increase over the July report of 639 deaths. Cities reported 543 of the infant deaths and country districts the other 263. Infant death rate increased thruout the state from .59 to .69.

Lima reported eight infant deaths in August and the same number in July.

COUNTY AND CITY IN ROAD WAR

classified as a county road. State laws limit them to building paving on county roads and to a strip 18 feet wide in the center of the street.

On Main-st, commissioners declare, the center is practically all taken up by car tracks. The street car company is responsible for paving the space occupied by its tracks and 18 inches on each side of the rails. They point out that this will leave the county less than a one foot strip on each side to pave.

"We would rather not do anything on Main-st and devote our attention to paving some other street in the city," Gray declared. "A letter will be sent to Manager Birmingham, giving him our stand."

TED TAKES WALK WITH HIS FRIEND

"Nothing like waiting for good exercise even if the weather is rather damp and uncertain," Ted decided Friday. So he called his best friend on the telephone and arranged to take a jaunt. Soon afterward the couple started their stroll. Ted's friend believed in preparedness and brought along her umbrella but no storms threatened. Both Ted and his companion were apparently so interested in each other that it made little difference what kind of weather was predicted. But Ted took time out and gazing at the sky decided that it would be fair Friday night with fair and cooler weather, for Saturday.

ITALY'S VICTORY COMPLETE

Wins Out in Decision of League of Nations

GENEVA—(United Press)—Mussolini's victory over the league of nations was made complete today when the assembly approved the action of the council in voting to submit to a commission of international jurists the question of the league's competency in the Greco-Italian dispute.

It was understood that until the last minute Italy threatened to quit the league should any unfavorable discussion occur. Many delegates wanted to assent the league's competency but were overruled. As far as the league is concerned, the whole question now becomes closed.

Motta of Switzerland, and London of Holland, took the initiative in approving the council's action and thereby headed off any general discussion of the matter when the assembly reconvened after a week's recess to consider the question.

The whole matter was disposed of without delay. Count Ishii of Japan, speaking for the council, thanked the assembly for its action.

Motta opened the meeting declaring the council's cooperation with the conference of ambassadors had been entirely successful and was in complete accordance with the league covenant. He advised the assembly not to discuss the affair.

London followed expressing satisfaction at the council's action and declaring the incident "happily closed."

Postal Heads Request Immediate Information on Needs

Request for immediate information as to what he wants for the local postoffice was made Friday morning by John H. Bartlett, first assistant postmaster-general, in a telegram to Postmaster A. E. Gale. His message came in response to a telegram sent Thursday to Postmaster-General Harry New demanding additional clerical help in the local office.

In his telegram the assistant postmaster general wanted to know if the local office needs more funds. Postmaster Gale said Friday that it is not money that is needed right now but experienced men to handle the mail in the local office. His force is largely made up of inexperienced men, he said, and he wants some help. "We cannot train men overnight for this work," said the postmaster, "and we sure need trained men right now."

Postmaster Gale said that local merchants and business concerns can help the situation a whole lot if they will just mail out their monthly statements either the last of the month or find some way so that every concern will not mail out statements the first day of the month. He pointed out that with gas, telephone, light and water cards being mailed out along with monthly statements from business concerns, all on the first day of the month, it simply swamps his office force. The postal inspectors have examined the office and know the needs and he said that all he is asking is relief from the present situation thru the use of experienced men until he can get his men trained.

FATHER AND SON BANQUET OF BOY SCOUTS FRIDAY

Everything was set Friday for the first annual Father and Son banquet of the Lima Boy Scouts to be held at the Elks club this evening starting at 6:30 p. m. At scout headquarters it was stated that the total registration for the banquet was 112, which officials consider exceptionally good for the first year.

Besides a quantity of good eats, there will be a two-reel picture of American historical events and an address by Congressman John Cable. The scouts and their dads are expecting a big time.

GOVERNOR TO PROBATE ISSUANCE OF WARRANTS

COLUMBUS—Issuance of search warrants signed in blank by Mayor J. C. Little of Loveland, will be investigated by Governor Donahay upon his return from Cleveland, it was stated at the governor's office today.

The governor left this morning for Cleveland, where he was summoned as a witness in the trial of J. A. Shearer, former state dry chief, without making any statement relative to the Loveland case. His advisers stated, however, that if it is established that the Loveland mayor issued affidavits or warrants signed in blank, Donahay probably will cause charges to be filed with a view to removing the mayor.

TWO MEN FINED

Visit of Charles William, Bluffton, to Lima on Thursday cost him $15 in criminal court where he appeared Friday on an intoxication charge. He left the court room and in 15 minutes he returned with the money and was released. William Dodd, pattern maker at the Loco motive works, was enroute home Thursday when it started to rain. He sought refuge on a porch and fell asleep. Officer Good arrested him on an intoxication charge. He paid a $15 fine.

The inventor, G. M. Johnson, 609 W. Lake-st, Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Democratic Leader Talks on Political Situation

CHICAGO — (Associated Press) — The Republican party in the coming session of congress "will do little except mark time, fill the pork barrel and study its various candidates for the presidential nomination," Senator Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama, declared in a statement here last night.

"I don't think the Republicans are going to do anything except drift until the election next year," declared the Alabama senator whose friends are supporting him for the Democratic presidential nomination. The League of Nations, he said, will not be an issue in the coming campaign, "but the fact that the Republican party flunked completely on European affairs will be," he said.

SHOUT MAY RUN
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — Oliver H. JOHNSON BOOM
LINCOLN, Neb. — A political group here favorable to the candidacy of Senator William Johnson of California for the Republican nomination for president, launched a movement in his favor yesterday. John G. Maher, active for many years in Nebraska politics, was quoted as saying the movement was for its purpose an organization to place on the official ballot in the primaries in Nebraska the name of the California senator for president.

"The leaders in the movement are nearly all the same men who succeeded in securing the delegation favorable to Senator Johnson in the last Republican national convention," Mr. Maher said.

Delphos Superintendent's Payments on Record

DELPHOS — Dr. N. E. Brundage, president of the Delphos board of education, declared Friday that the sums named in findings by state examiners against Superintendent H. R. Hicks are being paid back to the state. The payments made by Hicks are a matter of record on the books of the board of education, he said.

About five months ago the board issued a statement concerning increases in salary for which there was no lawful authorization following a report by a school examiner, and the refunds have dated from that time, according to Brundage.

Brundage's statement was made following publication in The Lima News of findings made by Josephine A. Lilly, state examiner, for the period from October 4, 1921, to July 31, 1923, which were filed Thursday. She made separate findings of $1,000 and $1,350, salary advances brought about by the board of education during his term of contract.

Brundage asserted that the last

System of Arbitration for Employees Practical

CHICAGO — (Associated Press) — Satisfactory settlements were reached in a large majority of the cases of grievances and controversial questions arising under the employee representation plan of the Pennsylvania Railroad system for the first half of 1923. This was accomplished at conferences between the local officers and representatives of the employees without recourse to any higher authority, according to a report made by the Northwestern Region headquarters of the system.

"During this period a total of 3,066 cases were taken up with officers below division superintendents," the report says. "Although appeal is provided for to superintendents, general managers, and finally to a joint reviewing committee equally representative of management and employee, the number of cases carried to the general manager totaled 223 and those reaching the reviewing committee, 84.

"Of the controversial questions taken up originally or on appeal with the local officers, superintendents, general superintendents and general managers, almost half were adjusted or compromised in favor of employees. Of cases appealed to the reviewing committee, about half were decided in favor of the management."

ITALY IS SEEKING MORE TOURISTS

Increased Travel Trade Necessary for Revenue

ROME — (Associated Press) — The Italian tourist trade has resumed its pre-war status. Before the war the tourists flocking into Italy from all parts of Europe added 500,000,000 lire, or $100,000,000 at the exchange rate of those days, to the wealth of Italy. In 1922 tourists from all over the world brought 2,000,000,000 lire to Italy which, calculated at the present rate of exchange, would give about the same sum, $100,000,000.

Coupled with remittances received from Italian emigrants, mainly in America, this tourist revenue used to be sufficient to balance Italy's adverse trade balance. The emigrant remittances, especially during the present year, show a considerable falling off, probably owing to the restricted immigration system now in force in the United States.

In 1922, however, the emigrant remittances equaled their pre-war figure, which was about the same as that of the tourist expenditures.

The falling-off of revenue from the emigrant source has stirred the various commercial organizations to look for the missing income in an extension of the tourist business. At present tourists go over the border paths outlined by the travel companies. But that is not all of Italy, say the Italian promoters. While they point to Rome, Naples, Sicily, Florence, Venice and the Italian Alps as being very worthy of tourist patronage, they insist that regions of the Abruzzi, the Puglia and Romagna are also to be considered as possessing great tourist attractions.

The Home Of RAY-GLO HEATERS
The Perfect Gas Fire
Combines Beauty with Perfect Performance
Quick Heat When and Where You Want It

TOO hot to start the furnace, too cool to sit in comfort—how often do these conditions present themselves during the changeable weather of Fall and Spring. Too hot in the bedroom, too cool in the living room—numerable the chilly, wintry days that find your home in such a condition. Too hot for father, too cool for mother—in every household in the land this argument concerning the proper temperature of a room arises.

The solution to all these problems is Ray-Glo, the Perfect Gas Fire. With a Ray-Glo Fire in your home, at a very small expenditure you can flood any room almost instantly with the invigorating, healthful warmth of summer sunshine.

Think of the pleasure of immediate warmth in your bathroom, after a sudden lowering of the temperature; of a warm bedroom in which to dress, after having the windows open during a chilly night; of the glowing comfort of an open fire and the satisfaction of heat where you want it, when you want it, without the drudgery of starting the furnace—then come and see us and let us demonstrate this wonder of modern heating—Ray-Glo.

LIKE the rays of the sun, pure, warm and invigorating, radiant heat such as the Ray-Glo Fire gives, leaves the heated surface and travels in a horizontal line until it meets some non-transparent body. Then it envelops that body with a clinging, unadulterated, healthful warmth.

Radiant heat travels rapidly—at the same speed as light, 186,000 miles per second—and like the rays of an electric lamp, may be directed wherever desired.

Unlike the heat from steam, hot water or warm air registers, which warms the upper portions of a room before it seeks the lower levels, radiant heat does not rise quickly, but heats first that part of a room which we occupy. With radiant heat you have the minimum of waste with the maximum of comfort.

It is the distribution of heat that counts, and the radiant heat from a Ray-Glo fire may be distributed when and where you want it.

RAY-GLO Heaters are manufactured in Art Black, Brass, Bronze, White Porcelain Enamel, Statuary Bronze, Antique Brass, Nickel Silver and Inlaid Black, Buffed Nickel Trimming. As these Heaters are in great demand it will be to your advantage to come in tomorrow and make your selection before they are all disposed of.

Ray-Glo Heaters may be purchased on terms as low as $2.00 down. The balance may be paid in very small payments.

"BUTCHER" WEYLER HANDICAPPED
General Is Refused Free Hand in Morocco FEARED DURING CUBAN WAR
Introduced in Cuba Concentration Camps

PARIS — (United Press) — "In 1918 they took me out of Cuba. Well, Spain lost Cuba, didn't she? Now they refuse to give me a free hand in Morocco. You'll see, one of these days, what's going to happen in Morocco."

That is what General Weyler — "Butcher" Weyler they called him a generation ago when Gomez and Garcia were fighting for "Cuba Libre," finally bringing in the United States to prove to the Old World that the New World had learned something in the last one hundred and fifty years or so—told the newspaper correspondents in Madrid when he returned from Meilla, after an examination of the situation of the Spanish troops.

French correspondents and one or two Americans who were in Cuba in the days preceding the blowing up of the Maine remembered General Weyler very well. For him the march of human events stopped in the fifteenth century, just after Christopher Columbus made a couple of journeys across the seas. Then was founded Spain's vast colonial empire, of which nothing remains for Spain. Wherefore she must find a new empire. Morocco is a good starting point. It is on England's road to the Orient. Tangier is just across the street from Gibraltar, which Spain regards as France regarded Alsace and Lorraine for fifty years. By control of the entrance to the Mediterranean, Spain might once again play the part of a world power.

Weyler is about 55 years of age. When he was very young he was sent to Cuba to repress a rebellion and when the revolt was finished officers who had served under him declared that he had found a new way to fight rebels. He had given orders that he wanted no Cuban prisoners. So his troops brought none back to camp.

He introduced into Cuba the system known as "concentration camps," later adopted by Kitchener in the Boer War, consisting in arresting every Cuban, man, woman and child hostile to the Spanish regime and keeping them imprisoned in barracks surrounded by barbed wire, with no means of communication with the outside world. Correspondents who criticized his methods, or were merely suspected of friendliness to the United States, were summarily deported. After his recall from Cuba, Weyler always sustained that it was his absence from the island that permitted Colonel Roosevelt and his roughriders to outgeneral and outfight the Spaniards.

WEYLER STOPPED REVOLT
He was made captain general of Catalonia about ten years ago. Catalonia is Spain's Ireland. The inhabitants declare that they are not Spaniards. Their capital, Barcelona, is the most progressive and wealthiest city of the peninsula. The Catalonians cannot understand why the Madrid government refuses to give them autonomy. There have been many revolts. But during the term of office of General Weyler, as he said the other day, he never had to declare martial law. His reputation sufficed.

Therefore it is easy to understand why Weyler considers himself the saviour of Spain. He went to Morocco and saw the condition of the army. He thought he could remedy it if he had absolute power. King Alfonso, more liberal than most monarchs of Europe today, declined. But King Alfonso has a hard problem demanding solution. If he fails in Morocco, France will be directly concerned because of the proximity of the African colony of Algeria and the French zone in Morocco.

CABINET MEMBERS TALK LITTLE

President Coolidge Does Not Like Talkativeness

"SOFT PEDAL" ON AT CAPITAL

President Working to Carry Out
Harding Policy

WASHINGTON — (United Press) — They're stepping heavy on the soft pedal in Washington these days. Just as many "conferences" are held by cabinet officers and the President as formerly; but whereas these conferences used to produce a modicum of news and a great many views, which were duly passed on to the public for what they might be worth, there is now discernible a gradual but steady change.

The modicum of news is missing. The views are still given, it is true, but with great circumspection. Even they are much more restricted, and there are hints that before long some of these "conferences" may be dried up altogether, as sources of information and inspiration for those who attempt to tell the American people what their government is doing, and why.

All this has not happened by accident. There is, to observers here, a singularly clear design apparent in it. This design is simply to reduce to a minimum the chance of administration officials getting "the wires crossed" or "upsetting the apple cart" or "filling the beans."

That is, Mr. Coolidge, catapulted by calamity into his present position, is facing the delicate task of carrying out policies of his predecessor—about which he knows in a general way, of course, but with the intricacies of which he is not yet fully familiar—and at the same time impressing himself so upon the consciousness of the country and of his party that he will be accorded the nomination in 1924.

PRESIDENT PLAYING SAFE
Another way of saying this is, that Mr. Coolidge doesn't want to be embarrassed, either in carrying out his conception of the Harding policies—and his conception possibly will not be Mr. Harding's conception in every case—or in maintaining his position as the logical nominee of his party in 1924, by too free utterances by some of his advisers and associates, who were closer to Mr. Harding than Mr. Coolidge was.

It would be embarrassing, to say the least, and it might be disastrous, to have one of the Harding cabinet say that a Harding policy meant one thing, when Mr. Coolidge construed it to mean something different.

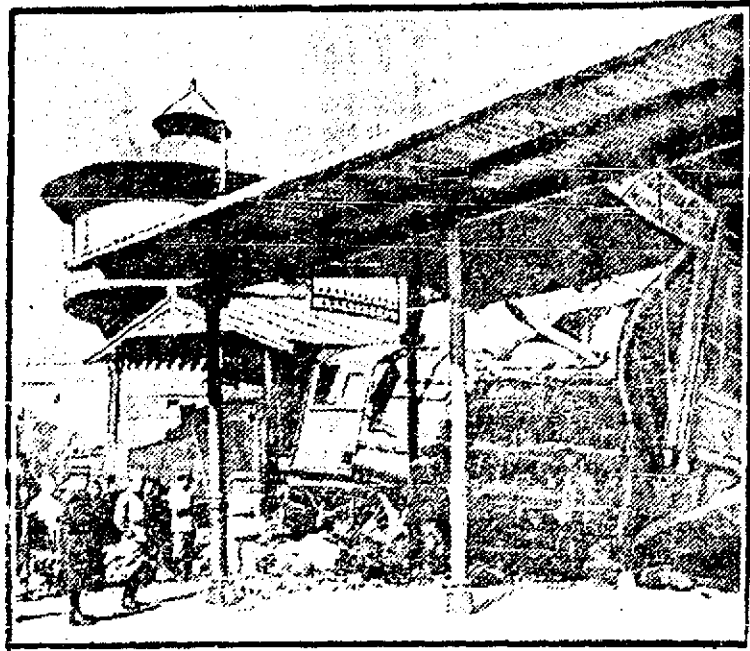

The President has taken the lead in trying to prevent anything untoward like that happening. He has asked that speculation regarding his program, or his political future, be avoided.

He has appointed as his secretary, one of the most accomplished "soft peddlers" in the business—Russetta Slomp of Virginia, an older hand at the political game than Mr. Coolidge. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has suggested that he might have to forego his conferences with newspapermen because of what he termed misinterpretation of some of his remarks.

Secretary Hoover has shut up like a clam, tho he never was very talkative.

"Cautious Cal" has, in other words, impressed his associates with something of his own reticence, and whatever other faults the administration may be found to have, talkativeness will not be among them.

IN THE RUHR

Train wrecks and sunken ships in narrow canals have hindered movements of the French in the Ruhr. Here is one of the rail wrecks, showing the tracks blocked and the station demolished. French say Germans planned the wreck.

AUTOMOBILE IN COLLISION WITH HORSE AND WAGON

In a mix-up Thursday afternoon between an automobile driven by Harold Rudy, 1430 N. Central-av, and a horse and wagon in charge of Tom Culleton, Belmont addition, at Elm-st and Central-av, the shaft of the wagon was broken, harness split. The automobile windshield was shattered. No one was injured. An automobile driven by Harold Stevens, 321 W. Elm-st, struck a deep hole on N. Main-st Thursday night near the Deisel-Wemmer cigar factory. The rear end of the machine was damaged, Stevens reported to police who placed a danger lantern at the hole.

DIES OF INJURIES
INDIANAPOLIS — James Patton, 29, Dayton, Ohio, died at a hospital here today from injuries received when the automobile in which he was riding crashed into a truck at Greenfield, Ind., Wednesday. Death was due to concussion of the brain.

WALTON WARNED BY ENEMIES

"Acts at His Peril" Interfering With Solons, He Is Told

FIGHT TO FINISH, RETORT

For Shall Not Pass, Says the Oklahoma Executive

OKLAHOMA CITY — Associated Press) — Legislators seeking the official head of Governor J. C. Walton marched on today in their plans for impeachment, while the executive gathered strength for a final drive on the Ku Klux Klan which he blames for the storm that has broken about him.

"The invisible empire shall not pass in this state," was the defiance hurled by the governor.

The lower house of the Oklahoma legislature will convene at noon Wednesday to consider charges that Walton has set at naught constitutional government and if the governor interferes with the meeting he "acts at his peril." This was the pronouncement of legislators who will seek the executive's impeachment.

ENEMIES CONFIDENT

Walton's final attitude toward the house session was expected to be developed during the day but his legislative enemies were confident that he would not carry out his threat to call the house members if they attempted to assemble. Since voting his threat some of the governor's legal advisers have urged him to permit the session as they declare it would be illegal and without effect. However, the final word remains to be spoken and the threat has not yet been withdrawn.

Admitting the fight was welling heavily upon him, the governor sent out an appeal for funds, asking those who believe in a representative form of government to send contributions to Mrs. Aldrich Blake, Oklahoma City, wife of the executive counselor Blake now is absent from the state on a mission for the governor.

But Governor Walton was defiant. "I have crossed the Rubicon. It is a fight to the finish," he declared. He said that if it proved necessary he would arm every man in the state who is opposed to the "invisible empire."

N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the Oklahoma realm of the Klan and his associates have turned the fight over to the Klan newspapers and the Klan members of the legislature, Walton asserted.

BROADSIDE TURNED ON

A broadside was turned on the Klan by the governor last night when he released a portion of the testimony taken before a military court. Here showing that County Attorney J. K. Wright, Sheriff Tom Cunniff and District Judge G. W. Clark had been obligated in the Klan and detailing charges made by Dr. A. A. Maupin, a dentist and former member of the organization as to the connection of the "invisible empire" with mob violence.

It was Judge Clark who issued the call for a special grand jury to investigate charges that Governor Walton allegedly had used state employees to check names on an initiative petition to which he was opposed.

The grand jury was dismissed when the military authorities trained machine guns on the court house at the order of the governor. Walton charges that a "Klan judge" and a "Klan grand jury" were attempting to interfere with his war on the "invisible empire."

RECORD OF COURT

Judge Clark summoned the grand jury when a petition for the convening of the body was submitted to him. According to the record of the military court, Judge Clark testified that although he had been initiated in the Klan a year and a half ago, he had paid no dues and for nearly a year had not considered himself a member of the organization.

Sheriff Cunniff admitted he is now a member of the Klan and the portion of County Attorney Wright's testimony made public revealed that he had stated that he paid the fee for membership.

Dr. Maupin's testimony was of a sensational nature exposing the alleged mob activities of the Oklahoma City Klan in dealing punishment to persons falling under the prescription of the Klanmen jury.

Dr. Maupin testified that Grand Dragon Jewett had stated to him that he was responsible for the whipping of a man named Merriman whom Jewett had accused of indiscretions.

The dentist detailed a sitting of the "sanhedrin" or "imperial council" to which he was summoned after having made inquiries as to the truth of the charges brought against the woman involved in the Merriman case. He went armed, he testified, warning Grant Landon, cyclops of the local Klan and other members of the "sanhedrin" present, that he would start shooting at the first threatening move on their part.

There, he said, he formally notified the organization of his resignation.

After reading the testimony Grand Dragon Jewett said:

"Our only course from these framed attempts at libel and character assassination is in the courts."

WIFE'S STOMACH WAS WORN OUT

Spent Hundreds for Medicines
But Nothing Helped Until They Got Plant Juice

TROUBLE IS NOW RELIEVED

The medicinal plant juices in this herbal medicine, Plant Juice, seem to have a surprising effect upon the stomach. Many people who have suffered from stomach trouble for several years have taken Plant Juice and declared afterward that this remedy gave them relief where scores of other medicines had failed to help. Sufferers state that in cases of gas, fermentation of food, bloating, biliousness, stomach pain and agony, headaches and the like, Plant Juice seems to act like magic.

"We spent hundreds of dollars on various medicines and treatments trying to get relief for my wife, Mrs. Virginia Tong, who was in miserable health because of stomach trouble," said Mr. George O. Tong, of 820 S. Twenty-first-st., Louisville, Ky., during a recent conversation with "The Plant Juice Man."

"Nothing helped my wife," Mr. Tong continued. "Her stomach was just about played out. Any kind of food would cause her to have a bad attack of gas in her stomach. She used soda to relieve her for a while but finally it got so she could not even keep the soda on her stomach but would throw it up. She was always constipated and her nerves were so jerky that she could hardly keep still."

"A friend of mine recommended Plant Juice and my wife decided to try it. She began to improve on the first bottle of Plant Juice, and since taking several bottles, she has a fine appetite, food agrees with her and her complexion has cleared. We highly recommend Plant Juice and feel that it deserves all the recommendation we can give it."

Plant Juice is sold in Lima at Hunter's drug stores at 49 Public Square and Main and Wayne-sts and at the Argonne drug store, opposite Post Office.—Adv.

RICH MEN'S SONS MAKING GOOD.

Many Cases Known Where Sons
Follow Father's Step

MANY BLACK SHEEP HOWEVER

Showing Tends to Improve as Time Passes

(BY B. C. FORBES)
NEW YORK — (Special) — "Do the sons of the big fellows amount to anything?"
That question is often asked, particularly whenever I meet the business men of other towns.
Some do. Others don't.
Which are which?

Of course, there are lots of black sheep among the sons of the rich just as there are black sheep among the sons of other classes. But, on the whole, I think the proportion of creditable sons is reasonably high among the industrial, banking, transportation and commercial leaders.

Also, I believe the showing tends to improve as time passes.

Let us start with the sons of the two richest men in America, both the product of industrial enterprises.
Young John D. Rockefeller is a serious-minded, industrious, purposeful middle-aged man, more interested in devoting his wealth to worthy purposes than in making more money. His father once said to me, "I count it as one of God's greatest blessings that he has given me a son who is interested in the worthwhile things of life."

Edsel Ford, like young John D., is an only son, is an entirely different type. His heart and soul are in business. Even his ambitious father doesn't outdo him in vision and aspiration. His intimates declare that Edsel is an unusually able young man. No Ford employee works more energetically than Ford's son. Like young Rockefeller, he is married and has several children.

Curiously enough, America's two foremost bankers had but one son. Both followed in their father's footsteps, but neither the present J. P. Morgan nor George F. Baker, Jr., is eager to become a financial Napoleon. They both attend to business. They both are credited with having more than average ability. They both lead unostentatious lives, spending much time with their children.

Jacob H. Schiff, head of America's second largest international banking house, also has left only one son, Mortimer. He, too, took up the parental profession and has developed into quite an able banker, very much on the job.
Chicago's leading bankers, including George M. Reynolds and John J. Mitchell, have sons who, I understand, are coming along very promisingly.

None of James J. Hill's sons has turned out to be a second James J., altho one of them, Louis W., has always been actively interested in railroading and is now chairman of the Great Northern.
E. H. Harriman's son, William Averell, works like a slave. He was early initiated into railroading by his father, who started him in an overall job, but the young man switched to shipping and finance, and his ambition lies in the direction of becoming in shipping what his father was in railroading.

John Wanamaker's son, Rodman, is one of the most active men in New York City. He not only attends to the running of the Wanamaker stores, but has become prominent in civil and other public duties. The Marshall Field business, on the other hand, has passed out of the management of the younger generations of Fields.

Neither Gary nor Schwab has any son. Neither had Carnegie. President Farrell, of United States Steel, has a young son who entered the shipping arena by way of the stevedore route; he worked for a year among the longshoremen. President Grace of Bethlehem, has a young son who is still at school, but already has distinguished himself both as a student and as a golfer.

Among other leaders whose sons are applying themselves industriously to making their mark in business, are the three sons of Robert Dollar, the Pacific Coast steamship and lumber magnate; Frederick B. Patterson, only son of John H. Patterson and now president of National Cash Register Company; Cyrus H., Jr., elder son of Cyrus H. McCormick and now senior vice-president of the International Harvester Co.; Daniel Guggenheim's son, Harry F.; William H. Nichols, Jr., of Chemical industry fame; A. P. Giannini's banker son, Mario; John Hays Hammond's inventor son; Thomas E. Mitten's son, of Philadelphia Rapid Traction fame and a host of others.

An astoundingly large number of America's prominent men of affairs have no sons. A column could be almost filled by a roll call of well known men who are sonless.

Of course, quite a list could also be compiled of big men whose sons have amounted to nothing—or, in some cases, to worse than nothing.

SWEDISH LABORER EMIGRATING

Hard Times in Sweden Causing Men to Come to U. S.

STOCKHOLM — (Associated Press) — The influence of hard times on Swedish emigration to the United States is illustrated by recent reports from Swedish iron and steel works, and from L. W. Fagerlund, governor of the Adaland islands.

The recent labor conflict caused a number of workers to leave their homes for America, attracted by the reports of industrial prosperity in that country. It appears that most of these immigrants were skilled workers.

Governor Fagerlund says that 513 Adalanders left for America during the first six months of this year. He has made a study of the causes of this exodus and has arrived at some interesting deductions. One category, he states, consists of young men who wish to perfect themselves in the latest working methods of their trade or profession, later to return ultimately to their native land. Another group includes men and women who hope for steady employment in America. Others go out in the hope of earning enough money to pay off the debt on their family homesteads. Some are younger sons of farming families who are tired of working at home for almost no pay.

Unfortunately, the governor states, very few return to their native soil, and of those who do come back many cannot adapt themselves to home conditions and finally turn again to America. This seems to be the case especially with the women, who find work on the huge farms too strenuous after having become used to lighter kinds of work in America.

LEGION TO CARE FOR ORPHANS

Children of World War Vets May Receive Aid

MAY PROVIDE INSTITUTIONS

Question Will Be Taken Up At National Meeting

INDIANAPOLIS—(United Press)

Care of dependent children of world war veterans is certain to be undertaken by the American Legion, in the opinion of national officials of the organization.

This problem, the extent of which is expected to become commensurate with the relief of disabled veterans, will be one of the principal reports to be presented to the national convention of the Legion in San Francisco in September.

The Legion's war orphans committee will meet here Saturday to assemble data for the convention's consideration.

The exact part the Legion will assume in the up-bringing and education of the children of dead veterans is still uncertain, owing to varied plans presented for consideration.

Placement of orphans in homes of nearest relatives, with financial support for the guardians, or further placement with foster-parents may be considered in the final outline.

COLONIES OF CHILDREN
Still another method to be considered is the grouping of a small number of children in colonies, under care of a housefather or mother, with sustenance afforded by the state or nation.

Institutional care of great numbers, with a view to educational and vocational training, thru the establishment of regional or national homes, will be given consideration; the method is not so favorably regarded as it was a few years ago.

According to the committee's figures, within eleven years after the close of the war, 35,000 children of world war veterans will need such care.

George A. Withers, of Clay Center, Kansas, who heads the committee on war orphans, will report to the committee the findings of a year's personal investigation of the problem.

A questionnaire has been admitted to legion department officials asking them for a statement of the extent to which the legion should take part in the program of caring for the orphans of veterans. Six states have made specific provisions for care of dependents of veterans in their own departments. Many other states will consider formal action at the state gatherings with a view to instructing delegates to the national convention.

In Michigan a home has already been established. It bears the name of "American Legion Children's Billie" and is caring for many children under the direction of legion authorities.

In Kansas a movement is under way to take advantage of the offer of Dan Dabney, a wealthy Kansan, to give the legion 360 acres of land and an endowment of $25,000 in cash for such a purpose. If the legion raises $100,000.

At the committee meeting here Saturday, it is expected that other states will suggest plans for consideration and inclusion in the report which will be made to the delegates at the fifth national convention.

DEMOLAY HOLDS INITIATION

21 Candidates Taken Into Local Organization

Twenty-one candidates were given the initiatory degree by Fidelity chapter, De Molay, at a meeting held in the Masonic Temple Thursday night. A large number of De Molay members and many Masons were present and witnessed the work.

Meeting was one of the largest and most enthusiastic held in several months and was followed by installation of officers for the ensuing three months and a social entertainment. Refreshments were also served.

MEMBERSHIP OF 150

Fidelity chapter now has a membership of over 150 and officers of the chapter hope to greatly increase this number before the end of the present year.

It was two years ago when Shawnee Commandery, No. 14, Knights Templar, first discussed the matter of organizing a local chapter of De Molay. Later the Commandery appointed an executive committee to make arrangements to start a local chapter.

Since Fidelity chapter was instituted three initiations have been held. The first ceremonial was put on by the De Molay team at Findlay, one of the best chapters in Ohio. Since then Lima De Molays have become a most proficient organization and the manner in which the degree work is given is said by Charles F. Malzen "Dad" of the order, to be equal to that given by the mother chapter in Kansas City, Mo.

PURPOSE OF ORDER

Purpose of the De Molay order is to make young men better and to teach loyalty and patriotism to their country, and at the same time inculcate the meaning of fidelity and courage, said William Stolzenbach, known by De Molays as "Uncle Bill."

moner, Vaughan Frey; preceptors, Willis Weaver, Francis Fockler, Dick Cantigny, Manuel LaPoint, Lee Blith, Charles East, David Friedly; sentinels, Russel Davis, orator, John Nice.

Russell Dole, who had served for six months as master counselor, was presented with a past chancellor's jewel by William Stolzenbach in appreciation for his work in the order.

That Bellefontaine is soon to have a local chapter of De Molay was announced by Brother Carter who said he intended to make plans as soon as possible.

DEEP WELL IS STARTED IN ROUNDHEAD FIELD; GASSER IS BROUGHT IN

KENTON—(Special)—Work of sinking the first deep-hole oil well in Hardin-co has been started by the W. P. Smith Co. near the Henkle school in the heart of the Roundhead field.

Activities still continue in the Roundhead field and a well drilled on the Bailey farm near Lakeridge, on Indian Lake, several months ago and which was strong in gas, suddenly last week started a flow of oil that runs about 20 barrels a day. A well shot on the Robinson farm between here and Lima Monday afternoon by the Medina Gas and Oil Co., showed about a 50,000 psi pressure. This company is looking for a number of cities in this section of the state including Lima and Kenton.

The food we serve is home-cooked. It is par-excellence. Eat at the I. M. C. A. Cafeteria.

HALF CLAD FOLKS MAR SCENERY

San Francisco Woman Disappointed in South Sea Islands

SHATTER ROMANCE DREAMS

Husbands May be Picked from Trees, She Says

SAN FRANCISCO — (Associated Press) — The South Sea Islands have been ridiculously overrated, according to a statement made here recently by Mrs. Whitney Sperry, San Francisco society woman and globe trotter, who has just returned from a 15,000-mile jaunt including a tour of the Orient, the South Seas and the Antipodes.

Mrs. Sperry said she visited the South Sea Islands expecting to find a land of dreams and romance. "I found beautiful scenery ruined by fat, half-naked men and women," she continued. "There was every sort of mixture of race and drink. Prices were three times higher than they should have been. The place was full of half-dressed artists who have 'gone brown,' and everything I ate gave me indigestion. The food was responsible. The South Sea Islands have been ridiculously overrated."

HUSBANDS PLENTIFUL

"In Java, Mrs. Sperry said, husbands may be plucked from the trees, bushes and the road side. These are not human wrecks or doddering derelicts, but fine, handsome and charming men from Holland who go to Java to make their fortunes.

"The heat is so intense that most women refuse to live there," Mrs. Sperry went on to say, "so the only alternative these men have, if they wish to exchange single blessedness for married ease, is to marry the native women. So you see what a golden opportunity there is for single white women."

"In Hongkong I met many American and English women stranded without a cent, whose real reason for going to China was to get married. Most of them were more than thirty years old and more or less unsattractive. They had heard, incorrectly, that there were so many more English and American men than women in China. Once there they couldn't return. Java should have been their goal."

PLAYS WRITERS

Mrs. Sperry entertains a bitter and hearty grudge against those writers who have painted glowing word pictures of the South Seas and the maidens thereof. She says: "I received the biggest disappointment of my life when I landed in the South Sea Islands. The scenery is beautiful, yes, but nothing startling. Java is more beautiful. And those beautiful maidens one hears of, they are fat, nearly all of them, and sloppy. Voluptuous, yes but oh, so broad! There are derelicts of every race and nation, gone to seed. Of course there is quite a colony of writers and artists, but even a large number of these have gone to seed. What struck me, particularly was the number of white men, educated and cultured, many of them successful writers and painters, who have married the native women."

GEORGIA FACING MORAL PROBLEM

"Cracker" Facing Death for Killing Son-in-Law

ILLITERACY HELD TO BLAME

Many Hold State Responsible for Condition

NEW YORK — (Special) — Can a state which tolerated illiteracy escape responsibility for the crime of its victims of ignorance?

On the answer hinges the life of an old man, sentenced to be hanged; the happiness of his son, imprisoned for life; and the fate of three other members of their family, awaiting trial for murder.

Educators say that the state cannot shirk its responsibility; but state officials hold another view.

Guided by the law of primitive man, for he had never been taught to grasp any other, J. W. Minter, a poor Georgia white, tried to right a wrong in his own crude way.

His daughter complained about being abused by her husband, Warrings and threats didn't help. A family feud developed.

Conditions became worse. So Minter, who could neither read nor write, who had been raised in poverty and ignorance, took the law into his own hands. He killed his son-in-law.

It was a brutal crime. The body was found floating in a creek several days after the victim had been spirited away from his home. Suspicion pointed to the Minters. One of the sons confessed. The arrests followed and then the trials.

In his confession the younger Minter said that his father had brooded over the stories of the mistreatment of his daughter until he became a monomaniac on the subject. Then one day last August Minter, who is 6 years old, called the men of his family together, hunted down their quarry and killed him.

"Neither Georgia nor any other state can escape entire responsibility for crimes due to illiteracy," says Dr. Margaret Noonan, professor of elementary education at New York University.

"Many, if not most, of our conceptions of morality and law are gained thru our reading and not thru our personal contacts. The man who can neither read nor write cannot be blamed, to the extent that an educated person can, for failure to live up to recognized standards of law and morality.

"To the illiterate southerner of the class to which this condemned man, Minter, apparently belongs, the law is something which does not touch him, or touches him only to oppress. To him the 'government' means schools which he never attends; it means the postoffice thru which no mail ever comes for him; and it means the officers who arrest him for using his own corn to make the liquor which is one of his chief sources of income.

"It does not occur to him to appeal to this mysterious thing called the law for redress for his wrongs; his only thought is the primitive one of redress thru violence.

"Insofar as the state has neglected to provide this man with an education which would include an understanding of law and government, the state is responsible for the crime he commits."

But there are two persons who aren't concerned much with the placing of the responsibility for the tragedy. Their hearts are too full of sorrow.

They are Mrs. J. W. Minter, the old mother who is alone now on the little farm near Newman; and her daughter, Mrs. Millard Troutman, whose husband was murdered. Not only has she lost the man she once loved, but she stands to lose her father, and possibly her brothers, too.

They hope that their sorrow may stir the state to remedy the situation which contributed to their tragedy.

HUSBAND FOR SALE AS SLAVE BY WIFE BUT THERE ARE NO TAKERS

MRS. ANNIE STELLA OCINA AND HER HUSBAND ADELLA "THE SLAVE FOR SALE"

HAVERHILL, Mass. — (Special) — There's a slave for sale here. He is white, six feet tall, and able-bodied. His wife is putting him up on the auction block. Any fair price will take him.

Adella Ocina is the name of the slave; Mrs. Annie Stella Ocina the name of his wife. He worked in a shoe factory for 25 years; she works in a box factory.

But the going became hard. They looked for a way out. Mrs. Ocina believes she has found it—by putting her husband for sale. "This slave without a master," she says, "is willing to work at anything a man of middle-age is able to do. He is intelligent and he is fairly well educated. His character is above reproach.

"If anybody wants a slave of this type, it is a chance to obtain a bargain."

So she's advertising her "Slave for Sale."

But so far there have been no bidders. There seems to be little call for slaves.

"This is an era of advertising," she says. "I want to get a decent job for my husband because he is self-respecting and does not want to be supported by my small earnings. I want to show that I am capable of better things than laboring in a box factory. And I want to show up the present evil of industrial slavery."

"What I meant the ad to convey is the fact that the industrial worker today, particularly the unskilled man, is a more unfortunate slave than his black brother of a generation ago. There was at least a paternalistic care of the slave of the south. Today an industrial slave who has had misfortune, serious illness such as we have had, is likely to find himself 'laid off' and unable to obtain employment with very little money to tide him over.

"Altho we are not actually in want now our condition will be serious before the winter is thru unless we can increase our income."

Mrs. Ocina now is earning from $20 to $24 a week at piece work in the box factory. The rent of their small apartment is $5.50 a week but prospects of expensive coal are not encouraging.

The husband has been in the shoe industry most of his life, his last work being packing. He earned from $20 to $20 a week at this but says that girls have almost entirely replaced men.

"I'm a good object lesson for young men," says Ocina. "I left school when I was 14 to earn 25 cents a day in a shipping room. I made a fatal mistake when I did not get all the education possible and another serious blunder when I failed to learn a trade. The good wages are in the production end, not in the routine and white collar jobs. I am not whining but I do think there is something wrong with an industrial system wherein a man can work 25 years or more and be unable to lay up more than a few months' living."

UNIVERSITY WILL PROBE PSYCHIC

Stanford Professor to Continue Research Work

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Palo Alto, Calif. — (Special) — The dead will be given a chance to communicate with the living and Sir Oliver Lodge's expressed theories will be given a good opportunity to be proved or disproved.

A gift of $500,000 from Thomas Welton Stanford, brother of the founder of this university, left when the former died in Australia in 1918 and which has just been brought to California, will make further research in psychic phenomena possible.

Professor J. E. Coover of the department of psychological research, within the department of psychology, will have charge of further investigations in the little-known field.

The department of psychological research was founded at Stanford in 1912, when a gift of $50,000 from Thomas Welton Stanford was accepted. Stanford, then a leading spiritualist in Australia, offered $100,000, but part of the money was diverted into other channels.

Dr. Coover, then a student at Stanford, became professor in the new chair on completion of his work toward the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Until this year, his work has progressed slowly, owing to inadequacy of funds, but now financial obstacles have been removed.

Dr. Coover's chief interest to date has been in the field of thought transference, or willing another to receive a thought communication. He conducted 10,000 individual experiments, and his conclusion was to the effect that thought transference really does not take place.

"Super-normal acquisition of knowledge is contrary to what we know about normal workings of the mind," he says.

"Most psychic researchers think we already have proof of the phenomenon of thought transference or telepathy. I challenge that proof. I do not believe it will stand the scrutiny of scientific men, especially of experimental psychologists."

However, Dr. Coover will continue to have an open mind. Long engaged in research, he is not inclined to subscribe to Sir Oliver Lodge's theorems. In fact, the Stanford scientist holds strictly a scientific view of all phenomena, and only the best proof will challenge his attention.

With regard to some claims of psychical media which would indicate very extraordinary mental and physical abilities, Dr. Coover believes that, while they are not necessarily fraudulent, they conduct "parlor experiments which have been the bane of the field."

From now on, Dr. Coover stands ready to investigate any phase of psychical phenomena brought to his attention thru proper scientific channels.

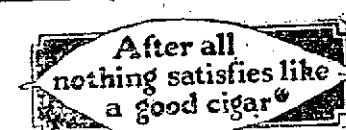

For instance, he says the question of a human being being able to give off ectoplasm, as some European scientists assert is possible, is first a proper study for the biologist and the magician. If they pass favorably on it, he is willing to give it a try.

$80,000 ROAD BONDS SOLD BY COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Sale of $80,000 road bonds to the Ohio industrial commission was closed by the county commissioners Thursday, Glen Wallace, secretary announced.

Bonds are to defray the county's half of the cost of constructing a mile of paving east of Delphos and about three miles on Bellefontaine rd. southeast of Lima.

So far no word has been received from the state highway department concerning awarding the contract for building a mile section on Spencerville rd. Two of the bidders were called to Columbus Thursday, however, and commissioners hope that the highway department will make the award within a few days.

BRECKENRIDGE IN FAVOR OF CODE

Mayor Cunningham, However, Has One Objection

City Commissioner H. L. Breckenridge Thursday returned his copy of the proposed building code to the city manager with a letter saying that he is in hearty accord with the provisions and that he is ready to pass the code whenever the commission is ready to act thereon. He offered no changes or amendments to the proposed code.

Mayor Harold Cunningham said that he has finished studying about two-thirds of the code and the only objection he has found is the provision for a chief inspector and deputies and also for cupulate plans for structures costing $5,000 or more. He favors one set of plans as being sufficient saying he did not think the man putting up the house should be required to pay for two sets of plans. He also is in favor of striking out the provision for any deputy building inspectors.

Other commissioners are still studying the proposed code and will likely not be ready to act on it at the commission meeting next Monday night, it was said at city hall.

VILLA'S DOMAINS WITHOUT LEADER

Chief Of 6,000 Potential Mexican Soldiers Assassin's Victim

EX-BANDIT RULER OF MANY

Population Of Kingdom Is Estimated At 100,000

MEXICO CITY — (Associated Press) — When Francisco Villa fell from power under a hail of bullets a small kingdom in the state of Durango lost its ruler, and nearly 6,000 potential soldiers their chief. The fact that the former bandit leader exercised virtually feudal rights over an extent of mountains and plains as large as the state of Tharala, with a population of nearly 100,000, came to light when a commission representing the "colonists" he had settled around about Cuatitlan journeyed to the capital to ask President Obregon what the policy of the government would be in regard to the Villa holdings. They were told that it would not be altered, and those of the former outlaw's followers who devoted themselves to agriculture would not be molested.

When Villa first submitted himself to provisional President Adolfo de la Huerta in 1920 and received, for himself and his 50 followers, the hacienda of Cuatitlan, the government thought the Villa problem had been solved. But when the pacified rebel's friends learned of the good luck of those who surrounded him, hundreds of them addressed petitions to their former leader asking for lands of the district which he dominated. Villa complied, as did the government, and more ranches were bought and turned over to them for the formation of military-agricultural colonies.

Prior to his death Villa was the dominating force in a district included in a line running from Rosario, along the border between Chihuahua, El Rodeo and back to Rosario, by the way of Ornelas. Various villages and towns are included in this district, but most of the inhabitants, despite the existence of these municipal governments, looked to Villa for justice.

MINE DISASTERS ON DECREASE

New Safety Methods Eliminate Many Explosions

MINERS TRAINED IN WORK

Bureau Saves Lives of Men by Recent Discoveries

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — Although the recent mine disaster at Kemmerer, Wyoming, took a heavy toll of lives, there has been a great reduction in such accidents since organization of the Bureau of Mines. The Kemmerer disaster was only the second of any magnitude this year, while in former years, before the adoption of safety methods devised by bureau experts, life-taking explosions were not uncommon. In the month of December, 1907, 699 men were killed in two disasters alone.

While the Bureau was not organized until 1910, it now trains annually 12,000 coal miners in safe methods in mining, rescue and first aid work, operates 19 mine rescue stations and 16 safety stations; and includes in its mobile rescue units a number of fully equipped railroad rescue cars and a fleet of similar automobile trucks.

RESULT OF EXPLOSIONS
Most mine disasters result from explosions, caused by the high explosives used in the mining process. Although American coal mines used last year more than 220,450,000 pounds of assorted explosives, however, the number of men killed per 1,000 dropped from 6.24 in 1907 to 4.19 in 1921.

The most important of the discoveries of the Bureau's engineers was that finely divided coal dust is highly explosive without the presence of an explosive gas, and that a spark, open light, or flame from a "shot" in a vein can set it off. Prevention of such explosions can be affected through sprinkling dry mines, or by adding to the ever-present coal dust a sufficient quantity of non-explosive stone dust. On some mines a stone dust cloud is let loose before every "shot."

Aside from developing gas masks and other important rescue equipment, the Bureau also produced new types of explosives whose flame is not liable to set off either gas or coal dust. These explosives are known as "permittables" and were first devised by bureau researchers, although the Bureau now only tests commercially made explosives and gives instructions as to their best use. Improvements in mine ventilation worked out by the Bureau have contributed also to the decrease in the number of disasters from gas explosions.

EX-KAISER TOLD SAD NEWS

informed That Germany Does Not Seek His Return

CAUSES DEEP DEPRESSION

One Prince, However, is Glad Throne Days Are Over

DOORN (United Press) — The ex-Kaiser has been told that scarcely anybody in Germany wants the Hohenzollerns back.

Former Minister Helfferich, who is now the leader of the conservative party in Germany, made this clear to him when he visited Doorn castle recently.

Until then Doorn castle had in many respects resembled the castle of the sleeping beauty. The inhabitants and visitors had made it the rule in their conversation with the ex-monarch not to touch any subjects which might hurt the ex-Kaiser's feelings. Therefore Wilhelm still believed that deep rooted in the German nation there still was a longing for his return, altho this feeling was not reflected by the papers.

This spell was broken by Helferich, who told Wilhelm that since his second wedding he hardly had any followers left in Germany and that the nationalist movement, which was growing stronger and stronger in Germany, is in no ways accompanied by a resurrection of a monarchistic feeling in favor of the Hohenzollerns.

Since Helfferich's visit, Wilhelm shows signs of deep depression, altho his physical health is perfect.

ONE PRINCE SATISFIED
However, at least one of Germany's former reigning princes is glad to have lost his job. That is the Kaiser's son-in-law, the Duke Ernst August of Brunswick.

During his recent visit to Doorn
the prince did not conceal his satisfaction with being rid of his bore-some throne. He really enjoys the privacy of family life. Altho the marriage with the Kaiser's only daughter, Victoria Luise, was in the origin not a love-match but a marriage for state reasons, it has turned out a model wedlock. The dual couple has been married for more than ten years, have five children and is still as happy as a pair of turtle doves.

Unlike most of his colleagues, who, with their crown, have lost the greatest part of their incomes, the loss of the throne hardly affected the Duke's revenues. Being a son of the wealthy Duke of Cumberland and related to the British royal family, Duke Ernst August still commands a nice round capital, which is based on solid English pounds.

Incidentally, it may be mentioned that the ex-Duke had a sort of premonition of his overthrow when he first came to Brunswick. Visiting the Brunswick castle for the first time, the young Duchess Victoria Luise remarked to her husband that the upholsterings on the furniture in some of the reception rooms were rather worn out and therefore ought to be replaced.

"Never mind," was the Duke's answer, "we are not going to stay here very long, anyway." That was in 1913.

Buy Your Tires from a

Firestone DEALER

At the Latest Prices—The Lowest in History

You will find the Firestone Dealer one of the stable business men of your community.
He offers a clean, fresh stock, backed by a well organized service. He wants you as a permanent customer.

That is the reason he sells Firestone tires.
He knows and has plenty of proof that they are the best tires on the market. He can give you the greatest value and thereby retain your trade for years.

Every day you find new proof of this unequalled value. On the 15th of this month, Firestone Tires set two new dirt track records at Syracuse when Tommy Milton slid around four turns at every mile and covered the 100 miles in 75 minutes, 33 hundredths seconds.
He also established a new world's record for one mile by covering it in 42 and 28 hundredths seconds. The next four cars to finish were also equipped with Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords. Each one of them went the entire race without a stop. This and every other important race this year was won on Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords and Steam-Welded Tubes.

Such performance gives you conclusive proof of their strength and durability.

Not only do race drivers use Firestone Tires as protection to their lives and the surest way to victory, but the largest tire buyers in the world insist on and buy Firestone Tires for economy and service. These buyers include the leading car manufacturers, the biggest commercial car operators and the taxicab and motorbus operators. 57,639,714 tire miles were sold to taxicab and motorbus operators in the month of August.

Think this over. You cannot afford to accept anything less than Firestone service and economy. You can buy this service and economy from any of the dealers listed below.

To Postmaster Gale

DEAR AL: My people greatly appreciate your efforts to relieve the mail congestion and we are ready to do all we can to help along. How would it do if we decided to mail early and often instead of keeping all our mail until the end of the day's business and then rushing it to your office?

LIMA BEANE.

To Major Hume

DEAR FRANK: Your idea of moving the city funds about, like checkers, so that the city can buy for cash and take discounts instead of piling up bills to come out of the 1924 budget seems to me to be right. I cannot see what business it is of the state how you handle the funds so you get the best and most economical results for the city.

LIMA BEANE.

To Lima Policemen

DEAR BOYS: A visitor the other day told me that you are the best looking gang of law enforcement officers he has seen in many a day. And he hasn't been sitting at home. From the looks, several of our traffic officers get from the fair sex, I'm inclined to think that your splendid appearance isn't wholly wasted on the home folks. There are a few things that impress visitors and at the same time make us all feel more proud in our city. I'm glad to say you are one of them. I'm not forgetting my firemen, either.

LIMA BEANE.

To Politicians

BRETHREN: Can it be possible that you are using the present condition of the city for the purpose of furthering your own personal desires? It seems impossible to me, that any citizen would in any way attempt to injure his own city by decreasing its revenue and throwing it open to attacks from all sides. When the commission form of government was adopted all parties buried the hatchet and joined together in making the plan a success. I certainly hope the rumors that someone has hunted up a spade preparatory to a little digging are all wrong.

LIMA BEANE.

To Lima School Board

GENTLEMEN: It is indeed refreshing to read in my favorite newspaper that state examiners found conditions here in exceptionally fine shape. It is just another proof that the money the taxpayers place in your care is being well spent and that you are doing your best to follow out the "red tape" inflicted upon you. Not a dollar was found to have been mispent and as a result there were no findings against you or any of your employees. May my people recognize this fact and maintain the present high standard of personnel at the November election.

LIMA BEANE.

To All "Two Timers"

FOOLS: Indications around the city the past week show that the Bible is not far wrong when it says, "Be Sure Your Sins Will Find You Out." You should be content with your homes and stick to the straight and narrow. I'm not a preacher by profession nor have I any intention of starting along that line. This is just a little warning from an old man who has seen quite a little of the world and knew most of your grandfathers. You fool only yourself and when the police get you, you realize you can't keep that up for ever.

LIMA BEANE.

To Propagandists

AGITATORS: This talk you are spreading broadcast regarding a budget director for my city would be amusing if it were not for the fact that it is so ridiculous. Here my fair city is facing the necessity of laying off policemen and firemen and you are talking about the hiring of a high priced efficiency expert to tell the commission where they can spend the money they have no chance of getting.

Under the present system of government the city manager and the commission are the best possible budget directors and they plan in every way possible, as far as the state bureau of accounts will permit, to balance the funds. I can just imagine the muddle an "expert" would find himself in trying to figure out the various state laws and trying to arrange a way to obey them all and at the same time install "business methods."

It seems to me that all this misdirected energy toward something that cannot be at the present time, would be well expended in an attempt to get the state laws changed so that business men now operating the city will be permitted to use business methods.

LIMA BEANE.

To Home Owners

FRIENDS: A look at the corner of the cellar where my coal pile ought to be reminds me that it is high time I call the coal man and prepare for the coming fall, a sample of which we have just had. From the number of coal wagons passing by my window, it would seem that many of you are thinking as I am and that you are preparing for the winter. Let me remind you that there is no time like the present. They tell me prices are not so bad after all.

LIMA BEANE.

To Earl Robn

DEAR EARL: I sure hope you get encouragement in your plan to have David Lloyd George visit Lima. Not only the Welsh folk hereabouts but all my people would, I am sure, appreciate a chance to see and hear the great British statesman.

LIMA BEANE.

To Kiwanians

DEAR FOLKS: Do you think it was very nice to invite Toledo brethren down here to celebrate Constitution Week and then trim them at golf. However, I'll waive the question and congratulate you on the fine game your golfers played.

LIMA BEANE.

To the Lions

DEAR CUBS: I am proud of you. Your decision Wednesday to, like Mr. Britling of English novel fame, see it thru in the matter of the Salvation Army Sunday school is just the kind of spirit that is going to make Lima a real city.

LIMA BEANE.

To C. A. Bingham

DEAR GENERAL: My people heartily commend your action in demanding that public service corporations have some regard for the city lighting system when cutting streets. Let us make this a city of one for all and all for one and then the destiny which is ours is sure to be fulfilled.

TWO OHIOANS ARE BLAST VICTIMS

DIE MAKING EXPERIMENTS

Tests Expected to Save $500,000,000 Gallons of Gasoline

WASHINGTON—(Associated Press)—The three bureau of standards experts who lost their lives in a laboratory explosion yesterday and the six others who were injured, had just completed experiments which are expected to save 500,000,000 gallons of gasoline a year.

In their study of evaporation, bureau officials said today, the laboratory force had discovered methods for preventing huge waste from this cause and had prepared full charts of great economic value. The experiments had been proceeding for several months, it was said, and had just reached the stage of a final report on the findings.

TESTED ENGINES

Another task recently undertaken by the victims of the explosion, which was the most serious in the history of the bureau, was the testing of the engines of the navy airship ZR-1. In a specially constructed chamber the motors of the craft were put thru a series of experiments from which data was developed for naval engineers showing the amount and grade of fuel needed at every foot of altitude up to six miles, with required carburetor adjustments at the varying heights. The air within the laboratory during the experiments was controlled in such a way as to simulate low and high altitudes, while the motors were kept running.

L. L. Laur, of New Salem, Ohio, who was instantly killed in the explosion together with Urban J. Cook, of Cincinnati, and Stephen M. Lee, of New London, Conn., who died later, had been in active research work for some time. The six injured men also had contributed important services to the bureau.

Secretary Hoover has ordered an investigation of the accident, which officials believe was caused by an accumulation of gas set off in some manner by a spark. The exact cause was expected to remain in doubt, however, until the injured have recovered sufficiently to be questioned.

MAGICAL BEAUTIFIERS FOR WOMEN

Women everywhere are trying all kinds of beautifiers, only to find that their effects are transitory. The first requisite of beauty is health. Without it the steps lag, eyes are lustrous, dark circles appear beneath them, the complexion becomes sallow, and almost invariably the underlying cause is some ailment peculiar to women. There is a very inexpensive remedy for this condition in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for nearly fifty years has been relieving women for some of the worst forms of female ills. Why not let it restore you to health and beauty and the joys of living?—Adv.

YOU GET INTO THESE PRETTY FROCKS HEAD FIRST

(BY MARIAN MALE)

PARIS — (Special) — The blue serge frock is the staple in every young girl's wardrobe and here is the Parisian idea of what a simple little serge should look like. These sketches show you the silhouette and the type of frock that Paris has decreed is the proper one for morning and street wear.

You will notice that the flapper figure is the one that is being glorified this season, and any provision that has been made for the woman who has gone beyond it has escaped me, tho I have been on the alert for just such a model, knowing as I do that we simply aren't all built on the flapper plan.

You get into these frocks by slipping them over the head. How you get around in them or how you get out again becomes a matter for each individual to solve for herself. The person who has mastered the shimmy movement would find it easier than the novice, I fancy.

The belt, you will notice, when it appears at all, is placed very low about the hips, where it can have no possible reason for being or serve any useful function.

This type of frock, either with the perfectly straightline silhouette or with the circular flounce, which gives freedom of the knees but scarcely changes the straight effect, is the foundation upon which practically every smart frock for day, and many of those for evening, is built.

There is little variation in line. All variety lies in the trimming, in the introduction of a bright color lining a flounce, or in some embroidery or braiding. With these models is worn the small clasp or black felt or the small sailor with the snug crown and rolling brim, rarely more than two or three inches wide.

Every attempt is being made by designers this year to bring a greater variety of clothes into the stylish woman's life, and to make a sharper line of demarcation between the frocks for various occasions.

Parisian couturiers are avowedly tired of the simple little silk frock that may be worn appropriately at any hour of the day. They are trying to keep severe simplicity for the morning hours, to introduce richness and elegance into the afternoon and to make evening clothes positively gorgeous.

They are trying also to make the light-colored evening frock replace the black one that may be worn all season. A little cogitation on your part will reveal to you the idea back of it all.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart:

How can letter wax be removed from a white linen dresser scarf that dropped on white tile floor?

How is my writing for a senior? Thank you.

My experience with letter wax is that it dries and becomes very brittle immediately after "dropping" on something. I think you will find that you can "pick" it off and the spot it leaves will come out if washed with soap and water.

Very good.

Dear Miss Smart:

I am a girl 16 and one half years old. I am 5 feet 4 inches tall, how much should I weigh?

My mother does not want me to go at nights. Do you think Saturday and Sunday nights is too often to go?

I have a boy friend whom I love and he says he loves me.

How is my writing? FIFTEEN AND A HALF

You should weigh about 110 lbs.

Nights when there is no school the next day, I would think it permissible that you are out a little later than usual. However, obey your mother. If she thinks you are too young to be out at nights, be courteous enough to do as she asks. She is the best judge of the hours.

Miss Katherine Snyder, Price-apt., W. High-st., will entertain Monday evening with a miscellaneous shower and bridge party for Miss Dorothy Roberts, bride-to-be of Hobart Lewis.

Miss Eleanor Trout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Trout, W. Spring-st., left Friday for Baltimore, Md., where she will enter Goucher college.

Franklin means free and Warren means persive.

"Isle of Retribution"

By Edison Marshall

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Ned Cornett, Lenore Hardenworth and Bess Gilbert are shipwrecked. Ned is engaged to marry Lenore. The three take refuge on an island they find occupied solely by a man named Doomsdort and his Indian wife. Doomsdort turns out to be a brute and takes Ned and the two girls prisoner. He tells them that they are to be his slaves. Lenore is spared hard labor, but Bess and Ned are driven by their master until they fall unconscious.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
He did not hear it again; but the truth went home to him in one despairing instant. Try as hard as he could, his jaws had released their hold upon the knife, and it had fallen into the depths of the crevice below.

XXV
BESS had made good time along her line that day. She had not forgotten that this was the day of her rendezvous with Ned, and by walking swiftly, eschewing even short rests, carrying her larger trophies into the cabin to skin rather than halting and thawing them out over a fire, she arrived at the Forks but at mid-afternoon. She began at once to make preparations for Ned's coming.

She built a roaring fire in the little, rusted stove, knowing well the blessing it would be to the tired trapper, coming in with his load of furs. She started supper so that the hot meat would be ready upon his arrival. Then she began to watch the hillside for his coming.

On the glare ice of the glacier, a mile straight up the ridge from the cabin, she saw the figure of a man. It was Ned, of course, taking the perilous path over the ice, instead of keeping to the blazed trail of his trap line. On the slight downward slope toward her, clearly outlined against the white ice, she could see every step he took.

He was walking boldly over the glassy surface. Didn't he know its treacherousness, the danger of slipping on the icy shelves and falling to his death, the deep crevice yawned by the wild creatures? She watched every step with anxious gaze. When he was almost to safety she saw him stop, draw back a few paces, and then come forward at a leaping pace.

What happened thereafter came too fast for her eyes to follow. One instant she saw his form distinctly as he ran. The next, and the ice lay white and bare in the van light, and Ned had disappeared as if by a magician's magic.

For one moment she gazed in growing terror. There was no ice promontory behind which Le was hidden, nor did he reappear again. And peering closely, she made out a faint, dark line, like a pencil mark on the ice, just where Ned had disappeared.

She turned into the cabin, bent, and added fresh fuel to the stove. Its heat scorched her face, and she put up her hand to shield it. The cabin should be warm, when she brought Ned home. She mustn't let the cold creep in. She must not forget the cold, always watching for every little opening. Perhaps she would want food, too; she glanced into the iron pot on the stove. Then, acting more by instinct than by conscious thought, she began to look about for such tools as she would need in the work to follow.

There was a piece of rope, used once on a hand sled, hanging on the wall, but it was only about eight feet in length. Surely it was not long enough to aid her, yet it was all she had. Next, she removed a blanket from her cot and threw it over her shoulder. There might be need of this, too—further protection against the cold.

TO FALL MEANT TO DIE.

Heretofore she had moved slowly, hardly aware of her own acts; but now she was beginning to master herself again. She mustn't linger here. She must make her spirit waken to life, her muscles spring to action. Carrying her rope and her blanket, she went out the door, closed it behind her, and started up toward the glacier.

At last she stood at the very edge of the yawning seam, staring down into the unutterable blackness below. Not even light could exist in the murky depths of the crevice, much less fragile human life. The day was not yet dead, twilight was still gray about her; but the crevice itself seemed full of ink clear to its mouth. And Ned's axe, lying just at the edge of the chasm, showed where he had fallen.

She called his name into the chasm depths, and some measure of self-control returned to her when she heard the weird, rolling echo.

And that cry did not go unheard. Ned had given up but a few moments before Bess had come, and her full voice carried clearly into the strange, misty realm of semi-consciousness into which he had drifted. And this manhood that had lately grown upon him would not let him shut his ears to this sobbing appeal. His own voice, sounding weird and hollow as the voice of the dead in that immeasurable abyss, came back in answer.

"Here I am, Bess," he said. "You will have to work quick."

XXVI
It was bitter hard for Ned to fight his way thru death's twilight. The cold had hold of him, its triumph was clear, and it would not let him go without a savage battle that seemed to wrack the man in twain.

He summoned every ounce of courage and determination that he had, and tried to shake the frost from his brain. "You'll have to work quick," he warned again. His voice was stronger now, but softened with a tenderness beyond her most reckless dreams. "Don't be too hopeful—I haven't much left in me. What can you do?"

The girl who answered him was in no way the lost and hopeless mortal that had lain sobbing on the ice. The fighting side of her that Ned had seen so often swept swiftly into dominance. At once she was a cold blade, true and sure; brain and body in perfect discipline.

"How far are you?" she asked. "I can't see."

"About 10 feet—but I can't get up without help."

"Can you stand up?"

"Yes." Forcing himself to the last ounce of his nerve and courage, he drew himself erect. Reaching upward his hands were less than a yard from the top of the crevices.

Bess did not make the mistake of trying to reach down to him. She conquered the impulse at once, realizing that any weight at all, unsupported as she was, would draw her into the ravine. Even the rope would be of no use until she had something firm to which to attach it.

"I've dug holes most of the way up," he told her. "I might try to climb 'em, with a little help."

"Are you at the bottom of the crevice?"

"The bottom is hundreds of feet below me. I'm on a ledge about three feet wide."

"Then stand still till I can really help you. I can't pull you now without being pulled in myself, and if you'd fall back you'd probably roll off the ledge. The ice is like glass. Ned are you good for ten minutes more?"

"I don't know."

"It's the only chance." Again her tone was pleading. Keep the blood moving for ten minutes more, Ned. Oh, tell me you'll try."

Deep in the gloom she thought she heard him laugh—only a few, little syllables, wan and strange in the silence—and it was all the answer she needed. He would struggle against the cold until she could rescue him.

"Here's a blanket," she told him swiftly. "Put it around you, if you can, without danger of rolling off."

She dropped him the great covering she had brought; then in a single, deerlike motion, she leaped the narrow crevice. On the opposite side she procured Ned's axe; then she turned, and half running, half gliding on the ice, sped toward the nearest timber—a number of stunted spruce two hundred yards distant at the far edge of the glacier.

Bess had need of her woodsman's knowledge now. Never before had her blows been so true, so telling on the tough wood. Almost at once she had done her work and was started back with a tough pole, eight feet long and four inches in diameter, balanced on her sturdy shoulder.

Ned was still strong enough to answer her call when she returned and the dim light still permitted him to see her lay the pole she had cut as a bridge across the crevice, cutting notches in the ice to hold it firm. Swiftly she tied one end of her rope to the pole and dropped the other to him.

"Can you climb up?" she asked him.

"Just watch me," was the answer. From that instant, she knew that she had won. The spirit behind his words would never falter, with victory so near. He dug his moosehairs into the holes he had hacked in the ice, meanwhile working upward, hand over hand. To fall meant to die—but Ned didn't fall.

It was a hard fight, weakened as he was, but soon the girl's reaching hands caught his sleeve, then his coat; finally they were fastened firmly, lifting with all the girl's strength, under the great arms, arms hard as steel, the pole, and he gave a great upward lunge. And then he was lying on the ice beside her, fighting for breath, not daring to believe that he was safe.

But the usual cool, half-mirthful remark that, in many little crises, Ned had learned to expect from Bess, was not forthcoming tonight. Nor were the sounds in the twilight merely those of heavy breathing. The strain was over, and Bess had given way to the urge of her heart at last. Her tears flowed unchecked, whether of sorrow or happiness even she did not know.

The man crawled toward her, moved by an urge beyond him, and for a single moment his strong arms pressed her close. "Don't cry, little pal," he told her. He smiled, a strangely boyish, happy smile, into her eyes. Very softly, reverently he kissed her wet eyelids, then stilled her trembling lips with his own. He smiled again, a great good-humor taking hold of him. "You're too big a girl to cry!"

LETTERS FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO LESLIE PRESCOTT, CARE OF THE SECRET DRAWER

I knew it, I knew it, little Marquise. I knew something was going to happen. But somehow I thought the terror which overshadowed me concerned Jack. It never entered my mind that my baby was threatened.

Yesterday, little Marquise, a letter came addressed to Junior and it contained only a five hundred dollar bill. There was not a scratch of the pen by which I could by any possibility know the sender.

I reached down for the envelope which had dropped from my nerveless fingers and found the post-office stamp was so terribly blurred that I had no way of finding out even the town from which it had come. Yet I know in my own heart that no one but my baby's own mother could have sent him this money.

When Jack came home and I told him the story, I thought he was going to faint. He looked the bill all over carefully. He even went and got the magnifying glass to see if he could not discern the letters on the postoffice stamp, but there was nothing.

We were in the nursery when he heard this for I had asked him to come near Junior's cradle while I told him the wonderful news. Looking down upon the unconscious baby head Jack said, "Well, my boy, you are a rich little chap. If you were not born with the proverbial silver spoon in your mouth you are certainly having it handed to you now."

"But, Jack," I said, "no one but his mother could have sent it."

"Oh, I don't know. Perhaps it was his father," answered Jack.

"No, for I am sure only a woman could have sent that money in just that way."

"Something has happened, Jack, by which that poor mother is able to care for her son. Is it right for us to keep him?"

"Well, I don't know how we can do anything else. We don't know where the 'poor mother' is that you are talking about. My advice is to sit tight. Legally he belongs to us. Whoever it is who has sent this money will have to come and take him not only from us but from the court and meantime this money will help me out on that deal I spoke of."

I stepped back in horror and looked into John's face to see if he really meant what he was saying.

"But it isn't yours, Jack. It isn't yours."

"Of course it is mine. The child is a minor and I am his legal father, am I not?"

"Whatever you may be in the law, that money does not belong to you and it must and shall be put in the bank for Junior."

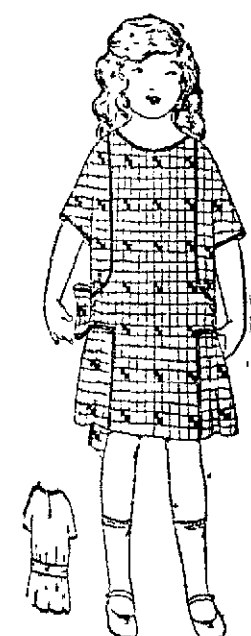

"Don't worry, Leslie. I'll put it in three or four days and add another five hundred to it."

"You will give it to me now and I will bank it tomorrow."

"Don't be a fool, Leslie," and Jack went out and slammed the door.

MARY'S DIFFERENT IN NEW FILM

(BY GERTRUDE GILLHAM)

MARY Pickford's new picture, "Rosita," has been widely heralded as marking her metamorphosis from the traditional ingenue to mature womanhood on the screen. Word has gone out that at last she has burned her bridge of curls behind her; that she has reached her dramatic majority; that the picture is definitely different from all her previous offerings.

All these things are measurably true, but these heralds should not lead her old audience or a potentially new to expect too sharp a change. In chartering her professional career Mary Pickford has been as cautious as she seems impulsive on the screen. During the interval between "Tess of the Storm Country" and "Rosita," this had become almost a timidity, her new artistic impulse painfully in conflict with what she considered the demands of her old following.

This following she has for years regarded as a definite entity, toward whom she had an entertainment responsibility. It was for this reason she gave up her contemplated "Faust." It was for the sake of her audience that she decided on "Rosita" as a compromise. And Ernest Lubitsch, noted German director had as his major problem in this, his first American-made picture, the retention of Mary's confirmed patrons and the conquest of new admirers.

Bear that in mind when you see Mary's latest.

She is, however, definitely different, partly by motivation, partly by requirements of a play set far outside the scope of her former representations. In "Rosita," written by a Berlin playwright and suggested by Lubitsch, she is the madcap heroine of a Spanish drama, a street singer forced from rugged boyhood to intrigue with a royal ruler to save her lover from the gallows.

She is grown up in "Rosita," because of the early maturity of Spanish women and because of her artfully suggested responses to adult passions thus hastened. Aside from this ripeness, tresses piled high and dresses worn long, and the fact that Lubitsch has molded her to the play rather than the play to her, Mary's new screen self is, however, not markedly unlike many of her past heroine.

She is, throughout the picture, even in its somber or fiery emotional peaks, the mischievous, assured,

MARY PICKFORD

HOLBROOK BLINN

irrepressible, and almost sexless if alluring creature who goes unscathed through a king's clutches much as her previous film incarnations have avoided any tragic snarls.

More than any other film star, Mary has been chary with her screen kisses. Her mild flirtations have always been with an aside to the audience. In this respect she makes some departure in "Rosita." George Walsh is her lover in the picture. Some of her passages with him are romantically intense. And in her half-mimicking, half-fearful toying with Holbrook Blinn as the licentious king, she will seem to many of her old followers quite daring.

It is her acting by facial expressions rather than by the hitherto well-defined Pickford gesture, that the new Mary is most in evidence. That is definitely the Lubitsch in-

"Scars of Jealousy" at Sigma Is Thrilling Picture

THOMAS H. Ince has built a powerful drama around the primitive life of a strange hill people, known in southern parlance as "Cajans" and thoroughly despised as a race of degenerate moonshiners, in "Scars of Jealousy" the current attraction at the Sigma theatre. When a proud old Southern colonel casts off the worthless son of his house and adopts in his place a "Cajan" hill billy, some gripping situations result.

The play opens with a spectacular historical prologue of the exciting

fluence. In the scene where, occupying the king's Toledo estate, she fearfully dines with him after the presumed execution of her lover, Mary's grim mood and almost animal stare is arrestingly new. At other spots, too, her face seems unfamiliar, and her old restraints are dropped.

An experiment, under the conditions mentioned, "Rosita" could hardly be expected to reach greatness. It is, however, a promising departure from beaten paths for Mary.

In her support Irene Rich, as the queen, Walsh, the lover, Blinn as the king and Mathilde Comont, mother of the dancing girl, merit high praise. Lubitsch's prestige as a director will be considerably affected by public response to "Rosita," and he is anxiously awaiting the verdict.

pre-Revolutionary days in France when a disgruntled people were beginning to mutter threats against the tyranny of Louis XV. When Count Cartier de Jacques dares to warn his sovereign that the country is menaced by dissolute government, he is wrathfully sentenced to the Bastille but his friends rescue him and he escapes to Nova Scotia. The thread of the story is resumed two centuries later with the Jacks family, refugees in the hills of Alabama where they eke out a precarious existence as moonshiners. A chance meeting with Colonel Newland results in the adoption of Cuddy Jacks and his subsequent clash with Jeff, the disinherited son. In the flames of hate a strange brotherhood is forged and eventually the two boys help to work out each other's salvation.

The forest fire which comes at the climax of the story is one of the big thrillers of the screen. Frank

Lyric Offers "The Spoilers" for One Week

HE SPOILERS," which will be shown at the Lyric theatre for one week starting Saturday is said to be a stirring picture of Rex Beach's celebrated novel of the historic clash that occurred in the Klondike when crooked politicians tried to rob the miners of their properties. This book was the sensation in its day and when a decade ago Selig made a film of it, that too was a big success. The 1923 "Spoilers" which was produced by Jesse D. McKim and Sam De Grasse are some of the other well known players in the cast. Miss Bedford is the girl from the States with whom Mills, as Roy Glennister, falls in love; Miss Nilsson, a girl of the dance hall, who roams from camp to camp in the Northland, "asking odds of no man." Director Lambert Hillier has adhered closely to Beach's story, which was founded on historic facts as viewed at close range. Critics have said that if anyone wants to see before his eyes the rough, reckless and ready life of Alaska as it was in the days of the gold rush he can see it in "The Spoilers."

When two persons are admitted for the price of one. Another special feature of the matinee will be the offering of a Saturday.

Starting Sunday, Blackstone, the greatest magician the world has ever known, will be the extraordinary attraction for one week. Blackstone is known to the public as a stage artist whose winning personality and dextrous manipulation provides a delightful entertainment. As a matter of fact, Blackstone's public appearances are not the manifestations of countless hours of mental and manual toil in conceiving and fabricating the hundreds of intricate phantasmas that comprise his repertoire.

Bowers Scores on Faurot Bill

BY CADJE

All things considered the strongest bill of the season opened a three days' engagement at the Faurot Thursday afternoon. There is a high grade of variety, from good singing, very clever dancing to hair-raising stunts away up in the scenery.

Frederick V. Bowers, he of "Because I Love You" fame, and besides this one of the most prolific song writers that America has produced, sings three of his very latest compositions in his act at the Faurot. There is always charm and interest in talking to Bowers; the writer found him, just as ambitious, just as full of wanting to do things, as he ever was, there is no perceptible change to this magnetic fellow. His act comprising some half dozen assistants, is mainly, with the exception of himself, made up of very clever dancing. This seemed to be out of the ordinary trend, of what would be expected from the clever light comedian and singer. I asked him why?

And we began talking of old times, the successes he had scored and he told me that "Because I Love You," sold all over the world; not alone in English speaking countries, but among about all the foreign tongues, even to far off India. "It is still selling," said Bowers.

Then he stopped a moment to gain with a hundred thoughts running thru his head at the same time, he broke the silence by saying "Do you know that I despise vaudeville. I'm going to get out of it next season, and he whispered in the most confidential manner, "I've secured Little Jesse James, the Longacre hit, now running in New York, for the road next season, and I'm going to do just what I have longed for, play the smaller cities. I don't like the big ones, I like to get where the veneer of sincerity is thick, among those who appreciate what's good."

Continuing, he said, "You know I should be quite a favorite in Lima. I've played here enough. The last time was in 1921 with 'Kiss Me Again,' and I can go back still further than that. I was here with McIntire and Heath, and I've been at the head of 'I'm So Happy,' a really good musical show, and again with 'Her Bridal Night,' and I don't know just how many others, always got thru in fine style."

And then we began on another angle about why "Sally, Irene and Mary" had scored so big, and he you'll just sing that song that goes into the classic list—"Because I Love You," I'll wager a red apple, it'll go over bigger than the new ones you are singing now." He smiled. "Maybe you're right. But styles of music are as varied as women's wardrobes. And here they called him to go on."

I shall prevail on him before the end of the week to sing "Because I Love You," because I love the old song and no one can sing it like the author. And I'm sure hundreds of Limaltes will be as eager as I am.

Madge Kennedy Returns In "The Purple Highway"

SIGNALIZING her return to the screen after an absence of more than two years during which she starred in legitimate stage productions, "The Purple Highway" offers beautiful Madge Kennedy one of the most attractive roles of her screen career. It's the Quilna's offering until Sunday when To the Last Man with Lois Wilson and Richard Dix will be the piece de resistance.

Miss Kennedy has the role of April Blair, a slave in the Home for Artistic Failures. Here she meets Edgar Craig, in reality Edgar Prentice, son of the founder of the institution and a failure at playwriting. Then, too, there is Joe Renard, an accomplished violinist. It is thru April that they leave the home and again tackle the world in search of their long-delayed success.

Edgar writes an acceptable play for which Joe writes the musical score, April becoming a great star by her singing therein. She accepts the attentions of Dudley Quail, a wealthy waster. April seems to forget that she owes everything to Edgar and Joe. How Prentice contrives to make all of her youthful dreams realities furnishes "The Purple Highway" with a climax that is most unique.

Monte Blue is excellent as Edgar Prentice, while Pedro de Cordoba portrays Joe Renard with quiet artistry. Others in the cast are Rose Davidson, Vincent Coleman, Emily Fitzroy, William T. Tooker, Charles Kent and Winfred Harris.

HIDE OF DAMNABLE LIE NAILED TO BARN DOOR

Some unprincipled person or persons have given currency to an INFAMOUS LIE about the advent of the Great Blackstone Show to the New Orpheum next Sunday matinee, for a week's engagement. The tenor of this UNMITIGATED FALSEHOOD alleges that the GREAT BLACKSTONE himself will not appear in person and that the attraction is a Number Two company sent out under the GREAT BLACKSTONE trademark.

I BRAND THIS DUO-HEADED MONSTER OF UNTRUTH A Deliberate and Atrocious Persecution, sponsored by interests disgruntled by the fact that this SUPERLATIVE ATTRACTION has been secured for THIS theater and with the evident aim to mislead and deceive the theatergoing public of this city and its environs. This evil report claimed as its basis the fact that for several seasons THE GREAT Blackstone Show has appeared only in the theaters where $2.00 prices were in vogue and that THE GREATEST MAGICIAN THE WORLD HAS EVER KNOWN would not appear elsewhere than in such houses. Vile traducers seized upon an uncontrovertible fact and twisted a FALSE deduction to their NEFARIOUS ENDS. True, the Great Blackstone has exhibited his entertainment in the higher priced playhouses, but, believing that more numerous performances at popular reduced prices, will not be attended by greater financial profits but by a huge uncharged clientele, the Great Blackstone comes to the New Orpheum IN PERSON and with his ENTIRE, BIG, NUMBER ONE, LARGE CITY and only organization.

TO ANY ONE WHO WILL PROVE THAT THE GREAT BLACKSTONE HIMSELF does NOT appear at any one performance during the local engagement I WILL PAY $1,000.00 IN CASH.

The LAW OF LIBEL will be invoked to deal with the perpetrators of this scurrilous attack on the business probity of the GREAT BLACKSTONE and the management of this theater. LET THIS BE WARNING to other VULTURES who revel in the oral of CARRION GOSSIP and LET THE PUBLIC REMEMBER THAT THE GREAT BLACKSTONE and HIS ENTIRE ENTORRAGE COME IN TRIUMPH FOR YOUR EDIFICATION AND DELIGHT, unhampered, undismayed and firm in his faith in the COMMON SENSE OF THEATROGOERS.

NEW WATERWAYS PLANNED

St. Louis Men Work on New System of Transportation

WILL USE SMALL BARAGES

Gulf to Lakes Service Would be More Feasible

ST. LOUIS—(Associated Press)—A new system expected to mark an era in inland waterway transportation, is planned by a group of prominent St. Louis business men who have incorporated the Standard Unit Navigation company. Under the plan, transportation on the Mississippi and other rivers of the country would be handled in a manner similar to railroad transportation. New types of tow boats and barges are to be used, extensive trials of which have proved successful, officials said.

Explaining the method Carl J. Baer, one of the directors, declared that instead of the huge barges in use on the lower Mississippi and other rivers, the system provides for small barges which would be linked together like freight cars of a train. The towboats would weigh only one-third as much as the present towboats, but would develop the same power.

BOATS HAVE PADDLES

Propulsion of the boats would be from paddles fixed on an endless chain on each side of the boat. Every paddle, which would exert a direct thrust at the water, would develop more pulling power than the usual paddle wheel and with less resistance, according to Mr. Baer.

"The barges will be small, having a capacity of from one to three car loads," continued Mr. Baer. "Trains of barges would be made up in a fashion similar to freight car trains, with no waiting for loading or unloading. A barge designed for a river port would be dropped at that port and the train would proceed, picking up loaded barges at different points."

DIVISIONS OF RIVERS

"Division of the rivers, like railroad divisions, would be established, the towboats hauling the barges thru their divisions and delivering the tow to other boats at the division points."

"The design of the towboats and barges will be such that they can operate efficiently in three feet of water." Mr. Baer pointed out that under the proposed method Gulf to the Lakes service would immediately become feasible by using the present canal from Chicago to the Illinois river and then to the Mississippi. He added that tow boats and barges of the new type had been contracted for, and that the service was expected to begin next summer.

LIVE WIRE FALLS TO STREET

Broken Trolley Wire Sets Fire to Street Car

Broken trolley wire of Lima City Street Railway Co., on W. Market-st. near Baxter-st., Thursday morning, endangered the lives of motorists and pedestrians and set fire to a street car.

A mass of blue flames intermittent with flying sparks for a distance of nearly one block halted traffic at 4 p. m. until about 4:15 p. m. before the fallen trolley was removed from the street.

A W. Market-st. car operated by Lima City Street Railway Co. was reported afire at three places by the fallen wire which was red hot, due to contact with the wet steel rails and wet street. No passengers were on the car, it was reported.

Central fire department, in charge of Chief Mack, answered the call and cleared the street with the aid of Traffic Officer Laughlin.

A number of automobiles were on the street when the trolley fell, throwing a shower of sparks and fire, but the wire struck the wet pavement and rails in the center of the east and west bound lines of traffic.

Had any of the automobiles been struck by the high voltage wire the occupants would have been electrocuted, it was stated at fire department headquarters, after the danger had been eliminated.

Federal Judge Killits has failed yet to act on motions relative to the trial of the Farley damage suit against the city in which he asks $215,000.

Mayor Harold Cunningham is quietly seeking the personnel of the new hospital commission which must erect the city hospital authorized by the voters at the recent bond election. He said he would not name the commission for some little time however.

COX AND FESS ON WITNESS STAND

Testify at Alcohol Conspiracy Trial in Cleveland

COUNTS CROSS-EXAMINED

Admits Receiving Fees of $375 from Selker Cases

CLEVELAND — (Associated Press) — Fred Counts, former federal prohibition agent in charge of the Cleveland district, was to testify in the Counts-Shearer-Hoskins conspiracy trial in Federal Judge Westenhaver's court this afternoon as the last of the four defendants to take the witness stand in self-defense.

Counts was expected to make complete denial of all the government's charges against him, as did his brother and co-defendants, Attorney A. Frank Counts, who preceded him on the stand.

James M. Cox, former governor of Ohio, and United States Senator Simon D. Fess testified as character witnesses for Samuel A. Hoskins of Columbus, another of the attorneys charged with conspiracy against the prohibition act. Governor Donahy and Senator Frank B. Willis were to appear as character witnesses during the afternoon.

COUNTS' TESTIMONY

On cross-examination of A. F. Counts, United States District Attorney A. E. Bernstein drew an admission from the attorney that he had received fees of $375 from law cases brought to him by Samuel Selker, alleged intermediary in the Auerbach Brothers conspiracy case, in which the brothers were found guilty of violating the federal prohibition laws.

This money was not mentioned by Counts on direct examination Thursday because, he explained to Bernstein, he was "not asked about it." He received $100 from Selker and a promissory note for $500, that never was paid for work on a case known as the Feinberg case, he said. Counts admitted that on the occasion when Selker sought his professional advice on various cases without mentioning names he "might have referred to some phase of the Auerbach case without speaking of it by name."

More character witnesses were called by the defense, after Cox had testified he had known Hoskins for more than twenty years, and Senator Fess said he had known him for thirty-three years, both declaring his character and reputation to be good.

BUDGET DIRECTOR IMPOSSIBLE

City Charter Names City Manager to Handle Such Duties

Because Lima's city charter specifically names the city manager as a budget commissioner, city officials are having a good laugh at suggestions that the taxpayers be saddled with the burden of supporting another city official to be called a budget director. They point out that he could do no more than is being done by the budget commissioner and the city auditor who make up the budget each year.

Likewise city officials declare that a high salaried budget director with nothing to do all year but make up a budget in the fall, could get no better results from the county budget commission than does the city budget commissioner now making up the annual budget of the city.

Paragraph "e" of Section 16, Lima city charter, officials pointed out Friday, declares that among the duties of the city manager are—"To act as budget commissioner and keep the city commission fully advised as to the financial condition and needs of the city." Section 16 of the charter defines the duties of the city manager.

"We already have a budget director," said Bingham Friday. "The budget is prepared by me after consultation with the department heads and with the city auditor and it is certain that a separate official with nothing to do but make up a budget could get no further with the county budget commission than we have, which is not very far as you know. So why saddle the extra expense onto the taxpayers at this time?"

Other city officials took the same stand. They declared that with Lima finances in the condition they now are it is worse than folly to try to force another official onto the city payroll. And they doubt if the commission could employ a budget director as the charter now stands because of the provisions of Section 16.

LEIPSIC.—The Ohio Power company, Lima, is endeavoring to obtain a new franchise and a new lighting rate from Leipsic patrons. At a meeting of the village council, Monday night, the matter was placed before that body. An offer of 10 cents a kilowatt was made by the company for lighting both streets and residences. Users of power will be forced to pay considerably more. Excessive rates will fall upon the users of but a few kilowatts of power, according to the new schedule. Company is seeking an entirely new franchise, embodying the above provisions. The present franchise has 15 years before expiration. A 25-year franchise may be agreed upon. The matter is to come up for further consideration by the councilmanic body.

COUPLE ARESTED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

CINCINNATI.—Arrest of a man and woman here late last night by a deputy U. S. marshal and a department of justice agent, is expected to throw light upon the removal of whisky from a distillery at Loretto, Ky., in January 1921. The couple will be arraigned today before United States Commissioner Thomas M. Gregory. They registered as Robert J. and Edna M. Lawrence.

The affidavit charged them with having broken the locks and opened the door of the distillery on which taxes were not paid and for removal of which no government permit was issued. The officers said they found a bushel basketful of whisky in the room of the couple. The prisoners are said to have a number of aliases.

BODY IDENTIFIED
CINCINNATI.—The body of a man, who answers the description of the victim, who last Monday leaped from the suspension bridge into the Ohio river, was found today. It was identified by relatives as that of Tony Trotta, 35, clothing presser. They said Trotta had been ill for several months and probably became despondent.

Family Hungry And Penniless Aided By Army

Sad story concerning death hunger and cold was told by Elmer Drake, a Grand Rapids, Mich., man, who arrived in Lima Thursday night with a wife and family and mother enroute to Cincinnati where he has employment at his trade as a glass worker.

Drake said he left Grand Rapids several days ago in his automobile. While staying overnight in a Michigan tourist camp his two children were taken with measles. The entire family was quarantined and one of the children, Walter, age 13 months, died of measles.

After the little boy was buried the grief stricken family continued their sad journey and upon the arrival in Lima the family was destitute, virtually without means to buy food or gasoline to enable them to continue their journey to Cincinnati.

Drake got in touch with Captain F. W. Wilkerson of the Savatras Army. Realizing their sad plight Captain Wilkerson purchased food for the family and arranged a camping site for them overnight at City park.

Friday morning Captain Wilkerson bought a basket of substantial food for the family and also gasoline and oil sufficient to take them on to Cincinnati.

BRAZIL PLANS TO CURB PRESS

Restricting Liberties is Passed by Senate

JEWELRY FIGHT PROPOSAL

Editor Claims Move Has Origin in Politics

RIO DE JANEIRO — (United Press)—A stringent bill restricting liberties of the press has been passed by the Brazilian Senate and is now under discussion in the Chamber of Deputies, with possibilities favoring early approval of the bill of that house.

The press is nearly unanimous in opposing the project, which would take from it many liberties now enjoyed, but the lawmakers, with the support of the executive power, are on the point of sending the bill to the republic to be signed and made law.

The elements opposing the proposed law think that it bears "an eminently political feature" and is of a deeply partisan nature, and that free discussion of the project has been hampered since it was started during state of siege when constitutional rights are suspended.

Supporters of the law think that Brazil has been damaged considerably at home and abroad by publication of false or exaggerated news and articles relative to internal conditions of politics, economy, etc., and unwarranted, scathing attacks on members of the government and other prominent Brazilians in politics and finance.

A section of the press, which opposed the late government of Epitacio Pessoa is blamed for the sedition movement of July 5, 1922, which resulted in some eighteen or twenty lives lost and culminated in proclamation of state of siege in the Federal District and the State of Rio de Janeiro. Some think that recurrence of such situations would be prevented by a good press law.

Among the most interesting clauses of the project for restraining freedom of the press is one stipulating that offenses against the president of the republic in the exercise of his functions or outside of them, or against the chief of any foreign state or the diplomatic representatives of foreign states in Brazil, when such offense is considered calumnious, is punishable with imprisonment of from three to nine months and fine of from 4,000 to 10,000 milres.

It is also proposed that writers for newspapers or any class of periodical, who use pseudonyms shall be obliged to have their legal and assumed names legally registered in the district where the organs for which they write are published. An amendment to the bill approved by the senate has been presented in the Chamber of Deputies, which deprives foreign journalists of the right to direct political newspapers.

ENTER STORE AT CRIDERSVILLE

Police Hear of Minor Robberies in and Around Lima

Report of the robbery Wednesday night of a hardware store and hardware shop at Criddersville and the theft of tools used by burglars in forcing entrance to buildings has led police here to maintain vigilant watch against entrance of the robbers into Lima.

Wapakoneta authorities reported the robbery to local police, stating that a brace and bit, chisels, flashlights and other articles had been taken in addition to $15 in cash and several automobile robes.

Theft of a motor meter from an automobile owned by C. A. Kiser, 817 Greenlawn-av., and theft of a new bicycle, the property of Henry Kuhler, St. Johns-rd., were entered at police headquarters.

The motor meter was taken from Kiser's car while it was parked on W. High-st. Kuhler's bicycle was stolen from Fairview school.

FULL AMOUNT OF RED CROSS QUOTA IS SENT INTO HEADQUARTERS

Japanese relief workers have sent the full amount of the county quota, $4,500 to Red Cross headquarters, Campaign Chairman A. C. CaJacob has announced.

This action was taken despite the fact that the full quota had not been actually collected, CaJacob said. "We have faith that the people of the city and county will come thru with the full amount and we sent it in without waiting to get it all," said he. There will be a meeting of the committee within a short time, he said, to make a final check up of the campaign work and see whether or not the committee will have to make good any shortage or whether citizens have made up the entire quota.

CALLS MARRIAGE SLAVERY

Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont Gives View of Matrimony

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — (Associated Press) — Chiefly because marriage is a sort of slavery," Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont, of New York, president of the National Women's Party, declared here yesterday that she would not recommend marriage for any girl.

"I would not say, in so many words, that marriage is a failure," she said, "but it seems to me that statistics speak for themselves."

Most of the opposition to the equal rights movement comes from the women "of the clinging vine type," Mrs. Belmont said. "Intelligent men are with us. Among the men our only opponents are the 'small town man' and the church organizations."

Mrs. Belmont is here to preside over the western states conference tomorrow of the National Women's Party and to attend the equal rights memorial pageant, which is to be given in the Garden of the Gods Sunday afternoon.

Modern economic conditions, Mrs. Belmont asserted, have much to do with the failure of marriage. "Too many girls these days have supported themselves before marriage and when they marry they feel that some one else is supporting them and they become discontented," she said.

"Marriage can be successful when people marry sensibly," she continued, "think what they are doing and go into it with their eyes open. Marriage will be more successful when women are more independent. Men soon tire of the clinging vine type. They like the intelligent girl best."

Mrs. Belmont said she opposed smoking by women on economic grounds. "In this day of competition, those who want to get ahead cannot afford to drug their brains," she said. "I don't think girl's smoking is a crime, but I don't like to see it—especially to see a girl smoking with a man."

MOTORISTS FACE ARREST

Must Not Park in Alley Ways Thruout City

POLICE ISSUE WARNING

Wholesale Arrests Threatened if Law is Broken

Wholesale arrests of motorists parking automobiles in alleys, blocking the flow of traffic, will be made by the police department as the result of the survey which indicated that 75 per cent of Lima alleys are congested daily.

"Conditions make it impossible for fire apparatus to pass thru alleys in answering fire calls," Lanker said in issuing his edict after Captain Strick and Sergeant Watkins had reported conditions as deplorable. Merchants park their cars at the rear of the place of business and leave them there during business hours. Shoppers also place their automobiles in alleys because of the lack of parking space on the streets, it was announced by police. This practice, Lanker insists, congests traffic in the alleys and also that cars are so parked that it would be impossible for fire apparatus to answer calls to certain sections of the city.

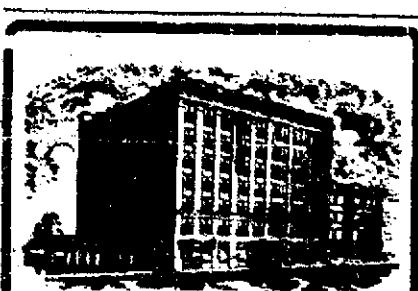

A five minute parking order has been issued for every alley in the city. Traffic police have been detailed to make arrests.

T. R. Hannan, the initial violator brought into court, was dismissed by Judge Poling after investigation had developed information that only a very small portion of the automobile protruded onto the alley.

Hannan was warned of the serious-

Why Our Competitor Is Anxious to Give Away $20,000 in Prizes!

"The Republican-Gazette is simply investing in the future," says a full page ad, and "Frankly, in the end it will PROFIT the Republican-Gazette," it continues.

Fortunately, advertisers who use THE NEWS EXCLUSIVELY will not be forced to pay their proportion of the $22,000.00. Cheerful news for our exclusive advertisers. HUGGINS YANKS ARE AMERICAN LEAGUE CHAMPIONS

South Hi Looming Strong For Initial Game With Rawson Saturday Afternoon

Coach Burdette Is Whipping South Hi Into Shape For Game With Rawson Squad Saturday

South Hi will inaugurate its football season against the Rawson eleven, on South Hi field, Saturday at 2:30 o'clock sharp. Coach Burdette is quoted as saying that there will be no delay; the bell will sound promptly at that time. The referee will be Roby Findlay. The Tigers have been working hard to get in proper condition. Wednesday evening there was a preparatory scrimmage between the first and the second squad. It was in this tussle that Coach Burdette got the idea that he has a regular eleven in the making. He expressed his opinion that they had performed well and showed a surprising strength in both offensive and defensive play. They scored three touchdowns in rapid succession: Thomas at r. b. scored two; one after a 30 yard run and another by running thru the field for a gain of 25 yards. Thackmorton also showed a spectacular burst of speed in plowing thru the field for 49 yards. A significant point was that the second team were never able to get away from the center of the field. The interference of the first squad being too strong for them.

Barthold, of last season's team, has decided to take his regular place. Coach Burdette states that he is a hard man; his low and tackles fiercely. He will prove a valuable aid to the team. "There is another fellow, Kasitz, at q. b., that gives promise of making a real glider in this position," said the coach. This is his first year and he has only had a couple of weeks practice, but he is developing rapidly; is powerful, grasps the best points of the game, with a little coaching.

There was a couple of mishaps in practice Wednesday. Rutledge, the regular center, sprained an ankle, and Patton replaced him. This young man has had an injured shoulder, but it was believed that he had sufficiently recovered to play again, and he was sent in to replace

Rutledge; he was set back however with an injury in the same place. It is not thought probable that these two injured members will be in condition to get in the line-up Saturday. But with most promising players available the damage to the team can be easily replaced. Cook, another very promising candidate for center will probably be found in that position in the coming game with Rawson.

Actual playing strength is impossible to figure without actual games which best demonstrates playing strength. This game Saturday will give Coach Burdette the true playing ability of his lineup. After that with the coming struggle with Mansfield, on September 29, the following Saturday, a definite policy will be possible. There is a tough season ahead; several of the very strongest high school teams in the state have been looked, and the toughest playing strength that South Hi can muster will be to make a creditable showing. This is the result to be derived at. This game with Rawson will be the means of bringing out the playing strength of South Hi; whether or not they are to be counted on to push to a successful termination of the schedule, to win a majority of their games for the honor and glory of their alma mater.

As A Matter of Fact

Sports Editor
BY HARRY BRADBURY

What is the true reason for drawing the color line? Is it that discretion is the better part of valor or is the antipathy genuine? Champion Dempsey has openly declared that he will never box a negro. This may be right with a goodly number of boxing devotees and it may be wrong with the remainder. It is not my intention to discuss the question, but in justice to those who claim that a champion is in duty bound to defend his title against all those who have a just right to challenge, precedent is all in favor of the colored man, and he is in duty bound to box the off color scrappers. It is a fact that from the very beginning of prize fighting or boxing (a British, the negro has been a dominant factor in the game.

A negro, Tom Molineaux, represented the United States in the first international boxing match between this country and England. This was way back in 1810. Corbett fought negroes; Sullivan had no antipathy against them, and practically every champion since the days of Molineaux has taken on colored boxers. So far as ability is concerned they have compared to the best of the white boxers. Just remember the calibre of Jack Johnson, Peter Jackson, Joe

A MIGHTY NEGRO BOXER

Can it be that in making a declaration that he will not box a negro Dempsey is foxy and has no relish for the job of going against Harry Wills. This black boy in my estimation is one of the toughest bucks that ever shied his eager into the ring.

Wills is from New Orleans. He is a veritable black Apollo; stands 6 feet 2 inches and boxes at about 220 pounds. He is a young fellow yet; was born in the Pelican state in 1892. So far as his ability is concerned there has been more than one manager of boxers, and several prominent scrappers who have told me that any of the heavyweight division will be better off if they take the sunny side of the

HAS A FINE RECORD

Pointing to his record, look how he handled Ray Bennett. We'll say for argument's sake that he doesn't amount to much, but he serves the purpose of showing the prowess of Wills. He murdered Bennett with a shower of rights and lefts hand drives (mind you left hand drives) to the face and body. Take the manner in which he handled Bill Tate, Gunboat Smith, Ed Martin, Kid Norfolk, Jeff Clark, and Jackson, Tut Jackson, and some fifty others.

His battles have demonstrated the fact that he is a real two-handed fighter, and these particular ones are scarce so far as boxers are concerned. He uses either side with the same degree of efficiency; is surely ambidexterous.

The fellows who know will tell you that Sam Langford knew the game about as well as any of the heavies in the last decade or two. He was as tough as a Rhinoceros hide, and as shifty as a Panther during his spell in the ring. Well when this fellow Wills began he seemed to have a spite against Langford, and for a youngster he certainly sized up well against the old vet, and he scrapped him about as often as anyone offered a few dollars for the go. Sam was too much for him at first, but Harry proved an apt scholar. They finally had their career in Panama. The first battle was fought April 11, 1918 and the New Orleans smoke box scored a kavo in six rounds. It was Sam's turn to get sweet revenge and they fought again in the following May, but for the second time Harry proved his ability by giving Langford another larrapine.

Mind you any boxer who could make Sam Langford bite dust was in line of his ability worthy of a place very near the top, and all the heavies had a whole some respect for the New Orleans brawler. Wills sure then had become a seasoned boxer.

But just imagine the Black Politician looking through a knot hole in the fence, at the Dempsey-Pirpo fight, and while he looks he's numbing an African melody in jazz time "Oh white man give me a chance at them million dollars."

It is an investment which gives a definite and tangible return in dollars and protection. Hoosier Paint Store, No. 115 N. Elizabeth Street.

WILLARD LIKES GREB

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Jess Willard, former heavyweight boxing champion, expressed the opinion yesterday that Harry Greb, of Pittsburgh, the middleweight champion of the world, "is the only boxer who has a good chance to win a division over Jack Dempsey today."

Willard, who is enroute to Los Angeles from New York, where he saw the Dempsey-Pirpo bout, said that he believed Greb's peculiar style of fighting would baffle Dempsey, and that the Pittsburgher might be able to outpoint the champion.

Willard added that Dempsey defeated Pirpo fairly. The former champion said that he had definitely retired from the ring.

Delphos Meets Local Team Sunday

Delphos, Sunday. Meaning that Delphos will meet the locals at the Murphy's grounds in the fifth game of a series of seven. The team from the city by the canal, has been decidedly fortunate, so far as winning games from the Independents is concerned. This thing has been going on for several seasons. There is a sort of tradition held by Delphos folks, that so far as demonstrating the national game is concerned, they own it; as a shipping illustration. It was away back in 1916 that Lima could brag of having won a series since then. Delphos has won with undue regularity. Never since has the local team had a grain of luck. The present series stands one in favor Lima and three for Delphos. It is possible for Lima to win all the remaining games and come out ahead in the series.

This is the purpose of Manager Halloran and the local representatives. So far as is known Lima will present the same lineup as last Sunday, while it is rumored that Delphos will strengthen the pitching position. Constant defeats have made the locals sore. They go in Sunday to get sweat revenge. The same crowd of rooters will undoubtedly come with the Delphos team. It will require a correspondingly larger crowd to offset this, so far as Lima is concerned, because when it comes to genuine, thoroughbred rooters its as hard to beat that town as it is for the local team to count more runs than the Delphos team.

Yanks Win American League Bunting For 1923 When They Defeat St. Louis Browns, 4-3

BY HARRY BRADBURY
Sports Editor

The New York Giants have won the pennant of the American league. It will not be possible should Cleveland win all the remaining games, and New York lose them to pull out with a greater percentage. So, as far as the American league side of the world's series is concerned, part of the games will be played on the Yankee stadium. Winning three pennants in a row is nothing new in organized ball, or in the major leagues. It has been done quite often. Back in 1882 Chicago won three straight championships—1880-1-2, and again in 1906-7-8. Boston Nationals won it in 1891-2-3 and the Giants in 1911-12-13. Nor is it a record for the American league, for Detroit won three straight flags in 1907-8-9. To set a record the Yanks will have to go in next season and win another. Since the National league was organized way back in 1876 there have been many vain efforts to win four straight pennants, by teams that was believed to be sufficiently strong to make a run away race of it, but something has always turned up to make this an impossibility.

GIANTS CHANCES GOOD

The going is not nearly so easy for the Giants, altho they will play one game less than the 154-game schedule because of the game postponed with St. Louis thru rain.

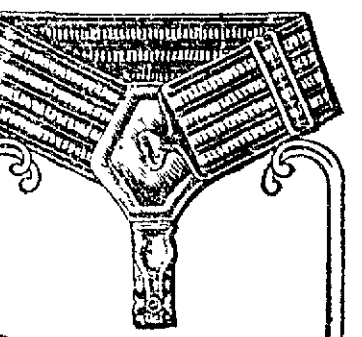

They took another sprint Thursday, thru weather conditions. It does seem strange, but a fact, that it is possible for the weatherman to defeat the Reds chances for a pennant. It is simple; the more games are postponed by New York, the more the Reds are forced to play, and of course, thru the law of averages, Cincinnati could not be expected to win them all. Moran's tribe are about five games behind, it will be necessary for them to win about all of them, or for New York to lose a majority of theirs. It is true that the Giants have the hardest battles yet to come, and those who are sticking to a forlorn hope do so on the theory that their pitching staff will break wide in two. They are not going in anything like championship form. This is possible.

By postponed games with Pittsburgh the breaks are all in favor of the Giants. The Reds losing the split in the double header with Philadelphia, lopped off one game from the number needed by the world's champions to clinch the pennant. With ten games to play, the Giants can make themselves mathematical certifies by winning six, even tho the Reds win the nine remaining games, and the Pirates win the thirteen, which are still on the schedule in that event the standing would be:

New York	95	58	.621
Cincinnati	95	59	.617
Pittsburgh	95	59	.617

A HEARTBREAKING GAME

The tough thing about the losing of the doubleheader with Philadelphia was the defeating of Luque, the pitching ace of the National or organization, in the first game by a score of 2-0. The defeat of the league's leading pitcher was unfortunate, not only because of the game to the Reds in the crucial struggle, but from the fact that he pitched shutout ball. He allowed only six singles and but one pass, but lady luck was against him, the hoodoo being low throws to first by

Local Grid Gossip

Definite decision that Central Hi football warriors will not participate in a game Saturday was made Wednesday evening by Athletic Manager E. A. Hauenstein. All schools within a reasonable radius of Lima are filled for Saturday. Nevertheless Coach Theibert will give his men plenty of work. The first and second teams will play at College Field Saturday morning in a practice tilt. The coach expects to use the whole squad in this scrimmage.

It has been a week of much work for the uptown huskies. The first team hits the dummy regularly and follows with a strenuous workout on the bucking machine. The second team also spends considerable time on the dummy. A short scrimmage is held ending practice for the day.

The Y. M. C. A. Cafeteria is now open and we serve the best of home-cooked meals, three times daily.

Boles Working On Defensive Tactics

WOOSTER — (Special to Lima News) — Coach Boles is spending plenty of time on defensive tactics with his college football squad this week. Until the past few days nothing has been done along this line. This department of the Presbyterian game, which has always been one of the strongest points, will be no exception this year.

One of the features of the defensive work has been tackles. Both Manly and Flattery have been breaking up everything that came close. Some of the other linemen who are making a bid for the jobs have been breaking thru to stop players. The battle of Mollett and Gabriel for the center position was hotter as the time for the opener approaches. Gabriel was never used at the snapped-back position until the middle of last season. He tips the beam at 170. Mollett played center for Massillon high and two years ago he was one of the bright spots on the Fresh team.

PUTNAM-CO FAIR ENDS SATURDAY
Record Attendance Expected on Closing Day
JUDGES AWARD THE RIBBONS
Interesting Exhibits in Every Department

OTTAWA—Saturday promises to be the biggest day of the Putnam-CO fair both from the standpoint of attendance and interest. Farmers not actively in the fair have been busy in the fields during the week but on Saturday they will spend the day at the fair grounds.
Attendance on Friday was good, large crowds arriving early in the day.
Judges who inspected the exhibits and work in the various departments declare the fair ranks among the best in the state. Judges have completed their work and attached the ribbons.
GRANGE COMPETITION
Leipsic Grange, No. 1684, is in the competition to carry off the prize for the most beautiful display at the fair. The display of the booth in the agricultural hall is covered entirely with corn tassels, the little work being in lavender, decorated with chrysanthemums. Ends are joined by an arch, on which rests a six-foot butterfly. Best products from farm and garden are in the background.
Leipsic and Pandora granges are competing for a prize of $100 and the Grange of the future for a prize of $50, offered by the fair.
JUDGING CONTEST
Boys and girls under 19 years of age on September 1, 1923, residents of Putnam-CO, were only those eligible to take part in the Fair Junior Stock Judging contest, which started Thursday at 10 a.m. Entrants were given a badge at the secretary's office. Draft horses, beef cattle, dairy cattle and lamb hogs were among the animals judged. The prizes in each class were $4, $3, $2, for the next 10, $1 each, and the next 10, 50 cents each.
United States Department of Agriculture and the Ohio State University have a barbery exhibit in the Farm Bureau booth at the fair. At the same place shrubs resembling the barbery, were identified for farmers.

VETERAN AT REUNION
VAUGHNSVILLE, member of the Fifty-seventh regiment, was in Van Wert Wednesday, to attend a reunion of the regiment. Collar is the only survivor in Sugar Creek. At one time 30 members of the regiment resided here.
AUTO DAMAGED
VAUGHNSVILLE The automobile driven by Richard Caton was damaged by fire Tuesday, while the family were enroute home from Lima. Caton immediately stopped the car when he noticed the blaze and his family were taken from the automobile. The accident occurred near the home of John Tudor.
NICOLE DIES
OTTAWA—E. L. Griffith, attorney and justice of the peace, was called Friday to Dayton by the death and funeral of a niece, Mrs. George Nauman.

CITY TO RECEIVE BIDS ON 2,000 TONS OF COAL OCT. 1
City Purchasing Agent Frank Hume is in the market for 72,500,000,000 heat units of coal, or to put it down in ordinary terms, he is asking bids for 2,500 tons of coal for city departments, bids to be opened October 1.
Specifications provide that the bidders must show an analysis of the coal they offer the city and that it must be sold the city on the B. T. U. basis, that is, British Thermal unit, and the coal submitted must tally with the coal chart with the city possesses, as to heat units and ash contents.
Egg coal of the best grade is being purchased and Hume is confident that there will be sufficient competition to give the city good prices.

PRAYER SERVICE HELD OVER BODY OF PRINCESS
LONDON—The relatives of Princess Anastasia of Greece gathered in the Russian Orthodox church of St. Philip today for the final prayer services over the body. A short requiem was recited by the Russian pastor, while the family with a few friends knelt beside the flower-draped bier. The body was later conveyed to Waterloo station and placed on board a special train for Southampton. Pall bearers there carried it to the waiting liner Aquitania.
At New York the body will be placed temporarily in a private mortuary and afterward will be removed to St. Thomas church where a special service will be held. The final burial will be in Woodlawn cemetery.
CITY FINDS ANOTHER WAY TO MAKE STREET REPAIRS
Ways and means for making some absolutely necessary street repairs despite the exhaustion of the fund have been found by city officials, it was learned Friday. C. E. Bohemyer, street superintendent, said that where the repairs have been made necessary because of sewer or water works construction or repairs, that the streets will be repaired and the cost charged to those funds.
Until the arrival of the new flusher which was expected some time Friday or Saturday Bohemyer said he could not tell how many men will be laid off because of the exhaustion of the street repair fund. He has laid off 10 men and one team, he said, and may have to lay off five more men. If the flusher comes this week he can keep some of the men at work because it will be necessary to follow the flusher, he said, and clean up the gutters as the force of the flusher will sweep all the dirt from the streets into the gutters.

Mr. and Mrs. Marian Shamba, of Ada, announce the birth of a son Wednesday at St. Rita's hospital.
Mrs. J. Hal Smith, a returned missionary from China and Japan, will speak at the 10:15 service at the First United Brethren church, Sunday morning.
Bluffton made another donation to the county Red Cross relief fund for Japanese, Chairman A. C. CaJacobs announced Friday. The total amount now received from Bluffton is $400. He also received acknowledgement from Red Cross headquarters in Washington of the check for the county's quota.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES—

Chapter 16

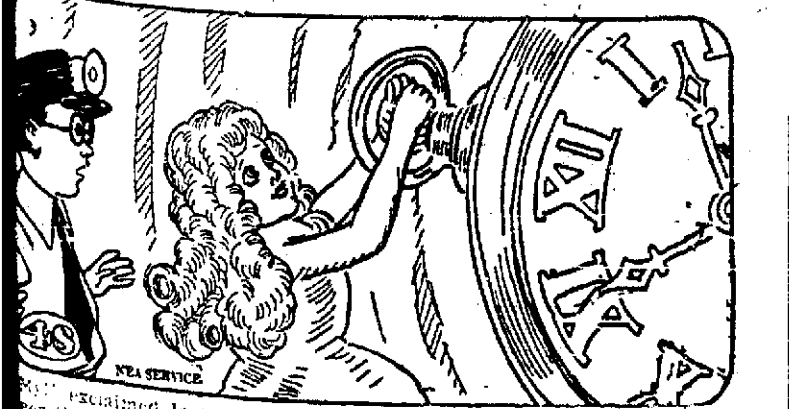

Story by Hal Cochran Drawings by Lee Wright

Jack wondered, as he watched the men pack a watch chain, how women and girls would wear such a large chain. And he asked Goldie Locks about it. "Oh," she exclaimed, "the watch chains are sold to men and the necklaces to women. The necklaces have gems in them."

The little adventurer looked at the necklace that Goldie Locks was wearing. "Why, that hasn't any gems in it," said he. "Not yet," replied Goldie Locks, "but if you will follow me I will show you where the gems are put in." And she led the way to a large watch.

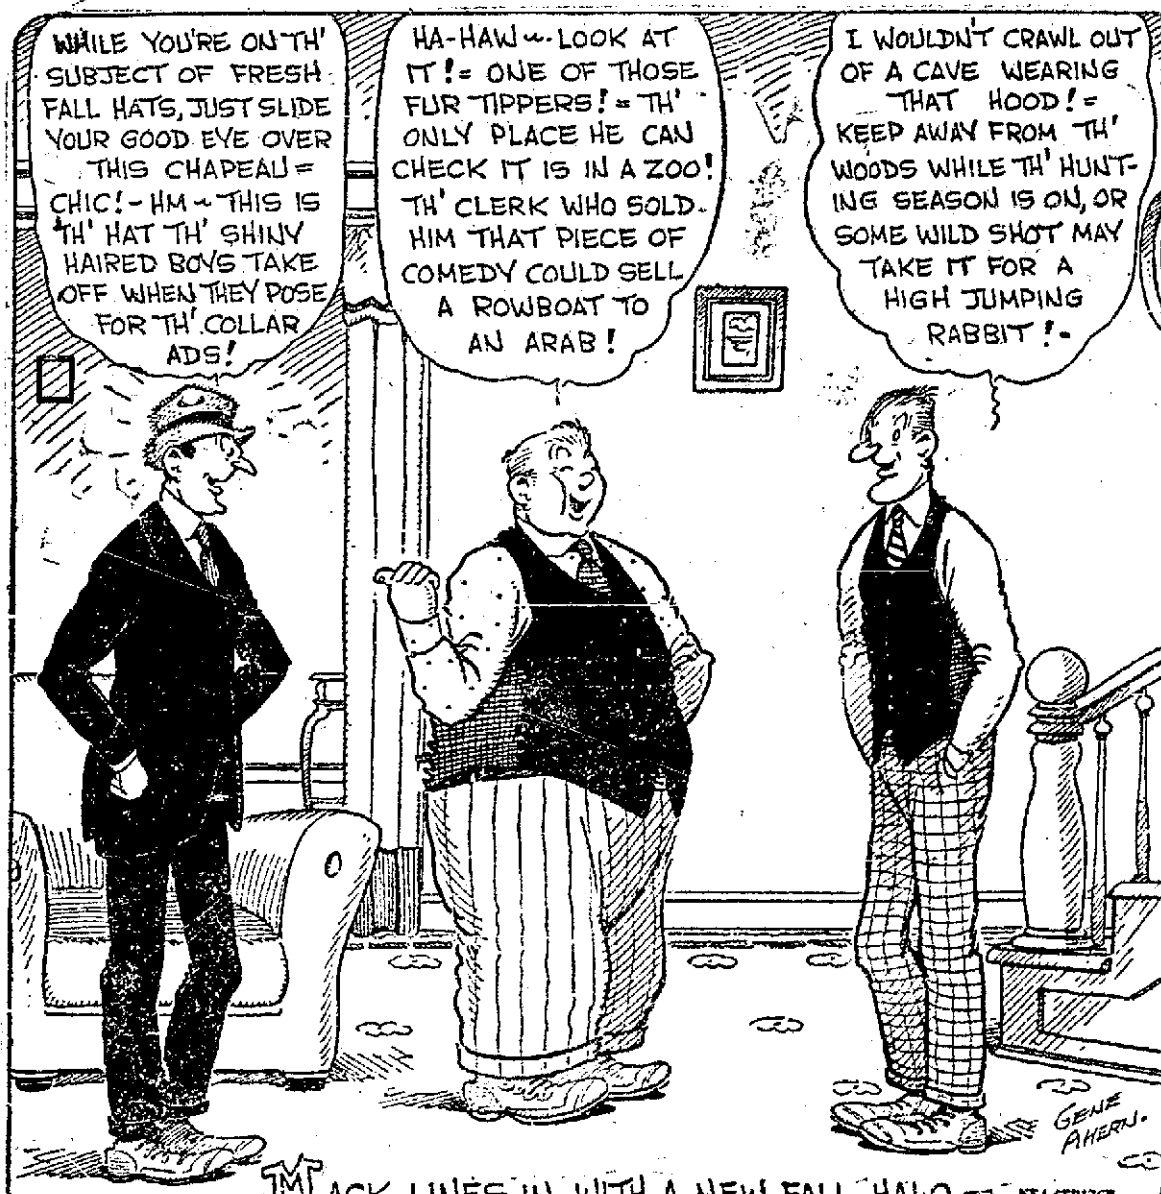

"I explained Jack, 'that's the biggest watch I have ever seen. Does it go?' "No," smiled Goldie Locks, "this watch is used only for a watch. When you wind it up the case opens and then we can walk it to Gem Land." And she started winding. (Continued).

Hill—Whatcha going to do this summer?
Hill—I'm going north for the summer.
Hill—Whatcha going to do that for? You can get all the summer you want right here.

H. E. Morrison, S. Broadway, relates the experience of a neighbor who was looking thru his library for a certain story. At last he found it and remarked, "Isn't it strange that one always finds what he is looking for in the last place he hunts?"
"I don't know," said his son who has just started in high school, "One generally stops looking when he has found it."

Harley Rockhill, E. Grand-av, has a friend who is rather bald. It so happens that the friend's wife is greatly interested in the latest ways to preserve the wave in her hair. Recently the friend's little daughter was sitting in his lap. Every once in a while her little fingers would touch his bald spot. Finally she said: "No waves for you, Daddy. You're all beach."

LEADER

She's That at Home And Abroad

RUTH BRAND
CLEVELAND — (Special) — Miss Ruth Brand is by the way of being a leading citizen of Dallas, Tex. And she leads them even when she's away from there.
As a private secretary to Mayor Wozencraft of Dallas, she is one of that city's best known young women. Selected as "Miss Dallas" by a jury of artists who looked over a whole plethora of pulchritude, she ranks as one of Texas' prettiest girls.
As "Miss Dallas" she rated high at the Atlantic City tournament. But she's still a leading citizen of Dallas.
